REVEALED AT LAST!

THE REAL MOTHER OF JACKSON'S KIDS!

MICHAEL Jackson's explosive handwritten memoir: Vanity donated her eggs, which were implanted in surrogates! King of Pop's ultimate secret — beautiful singer Vanity is the REAL mother of his three children!

Ending nearly two decades of speculation about the mother of Michael's kids, Jackson family insiders are finally breaking their silence to disclose claims to have read sections the hush-hush story spelled that detail the conception of Michael's kids Prince, Paris and Blanket. Other excerpts have been made public during a court case, but the name of Jackson's baby mom was kept hidden.

The source first read the bombshell information nearly a year ago, but refused to go public with the details

MAN-EATER BRITNEY TURNS SEX MACHINE!

FORMER Disney darling Britney Spears has sex — and porn — on the brain, stunned pals say!

The "Toxic" man-eater recently shocked fans by announcing on-stage in Sin City she wants "a hot nerd with a really big" you-know-what — and insiders insist the blonde bombshell wasn't kidding!

Friends of the 34-year-old siren, who once starred on "The Mickey Mouse Club," worry her X-rated fantasies have grown into a twisted and unhealthy addiction to Internet porn

Fears troubled singer is HOOKED ON PORN

"She's highly sexual and gets really frustrated when she's not having regular romps, so lately she's been getting her kicks through porn more and more."

Friends fear the singer could go a step further and look for love on the worldwide Web — and wind up with a shady suitor only interested in using her for fame or money.

"Britney wears her heart on her sleeve, but her choice in men has always been questionable," adds the source.

"She falls way too quickly before giving a guy a chance to show his true colors. She's always loved the idea of online dating, but it's a massive understatement to say her family thinks it's a terrible idea."

Britney, who earned $31 million last year and is worth $184 million, is a magnet for gold-diggers, another pal notes. "She really needs to find a decent guy, and the sooner the better. She's incredibly lonely right now. Seeking some kind of comfort in porn is not healthy and only fuels her desperation."

While no one can stop what she looks at online, friends say dad Jamie is already on the hunt for a suitable guy to fulfill her fantasies.

"He knows Britney better than anyone," adds the pal. "He knows it's up to him and her team to find her a man because she's so bad at doing it herself."

Friends fear ex-Mouseketeer Britney (above) is dangerously lonely and vulnerable without her ex Charlie Ebersol (right) since she split from TV producer boyfriend Charlie Ebersol in June.

"Britney watches porn every single day!" says an insider. "She has done for years, even when she was in a serious relationship, but it's getting out of hand the longer she goes without a man in her life."

Oops, she might do it again! Britney watches porn every day, says an insider out of respect for Vanity. But that changed when the lovely songwriter died on Feb. 15 after years of battling persistent abdominal problems and kidney trouble.

"Now the time is right for everyone to know," says the insider. "Michael's family knows. They've seen his diaries and it's been a closely guarded secret. The handful of people who know have been sworn to secrecy, but the information belongs to the world!"

In one entry, the source says Michael wrote, "I'm the luckiest man in the world! Vanity agreed to make me a Daddy!" Another passage noted that Vanity, who was also a protégé of Michael's rock rival Prince, went through four separate procedures to harvest her eggs.

"I can have my own army of children," he gleefully wrote.

According to the source, "From reading the passages where he talked about Vanity, you get the clear impression Michael had plans for a lot more than three kids. It's very obvious. But he doesn't explain what happened or why he stopped at three kids."

Michael Jackson's long-rumored egg donors were an all-star roster (clockwise from top left): Lisa Marie Presley, Elizabeth Taylor, Madonna, Diana Ross and Brooke Shields

Until now, it was always believed that Debbie Rowe was the biological mother of his first two children — Prince, born Feb. 13, 1997, and daughter Paris, who came into the world on April 3, 1998.

Prince was born three months after Rowe and Jackson married. They divorced in 1999 with Michael getting full custody of the kids.

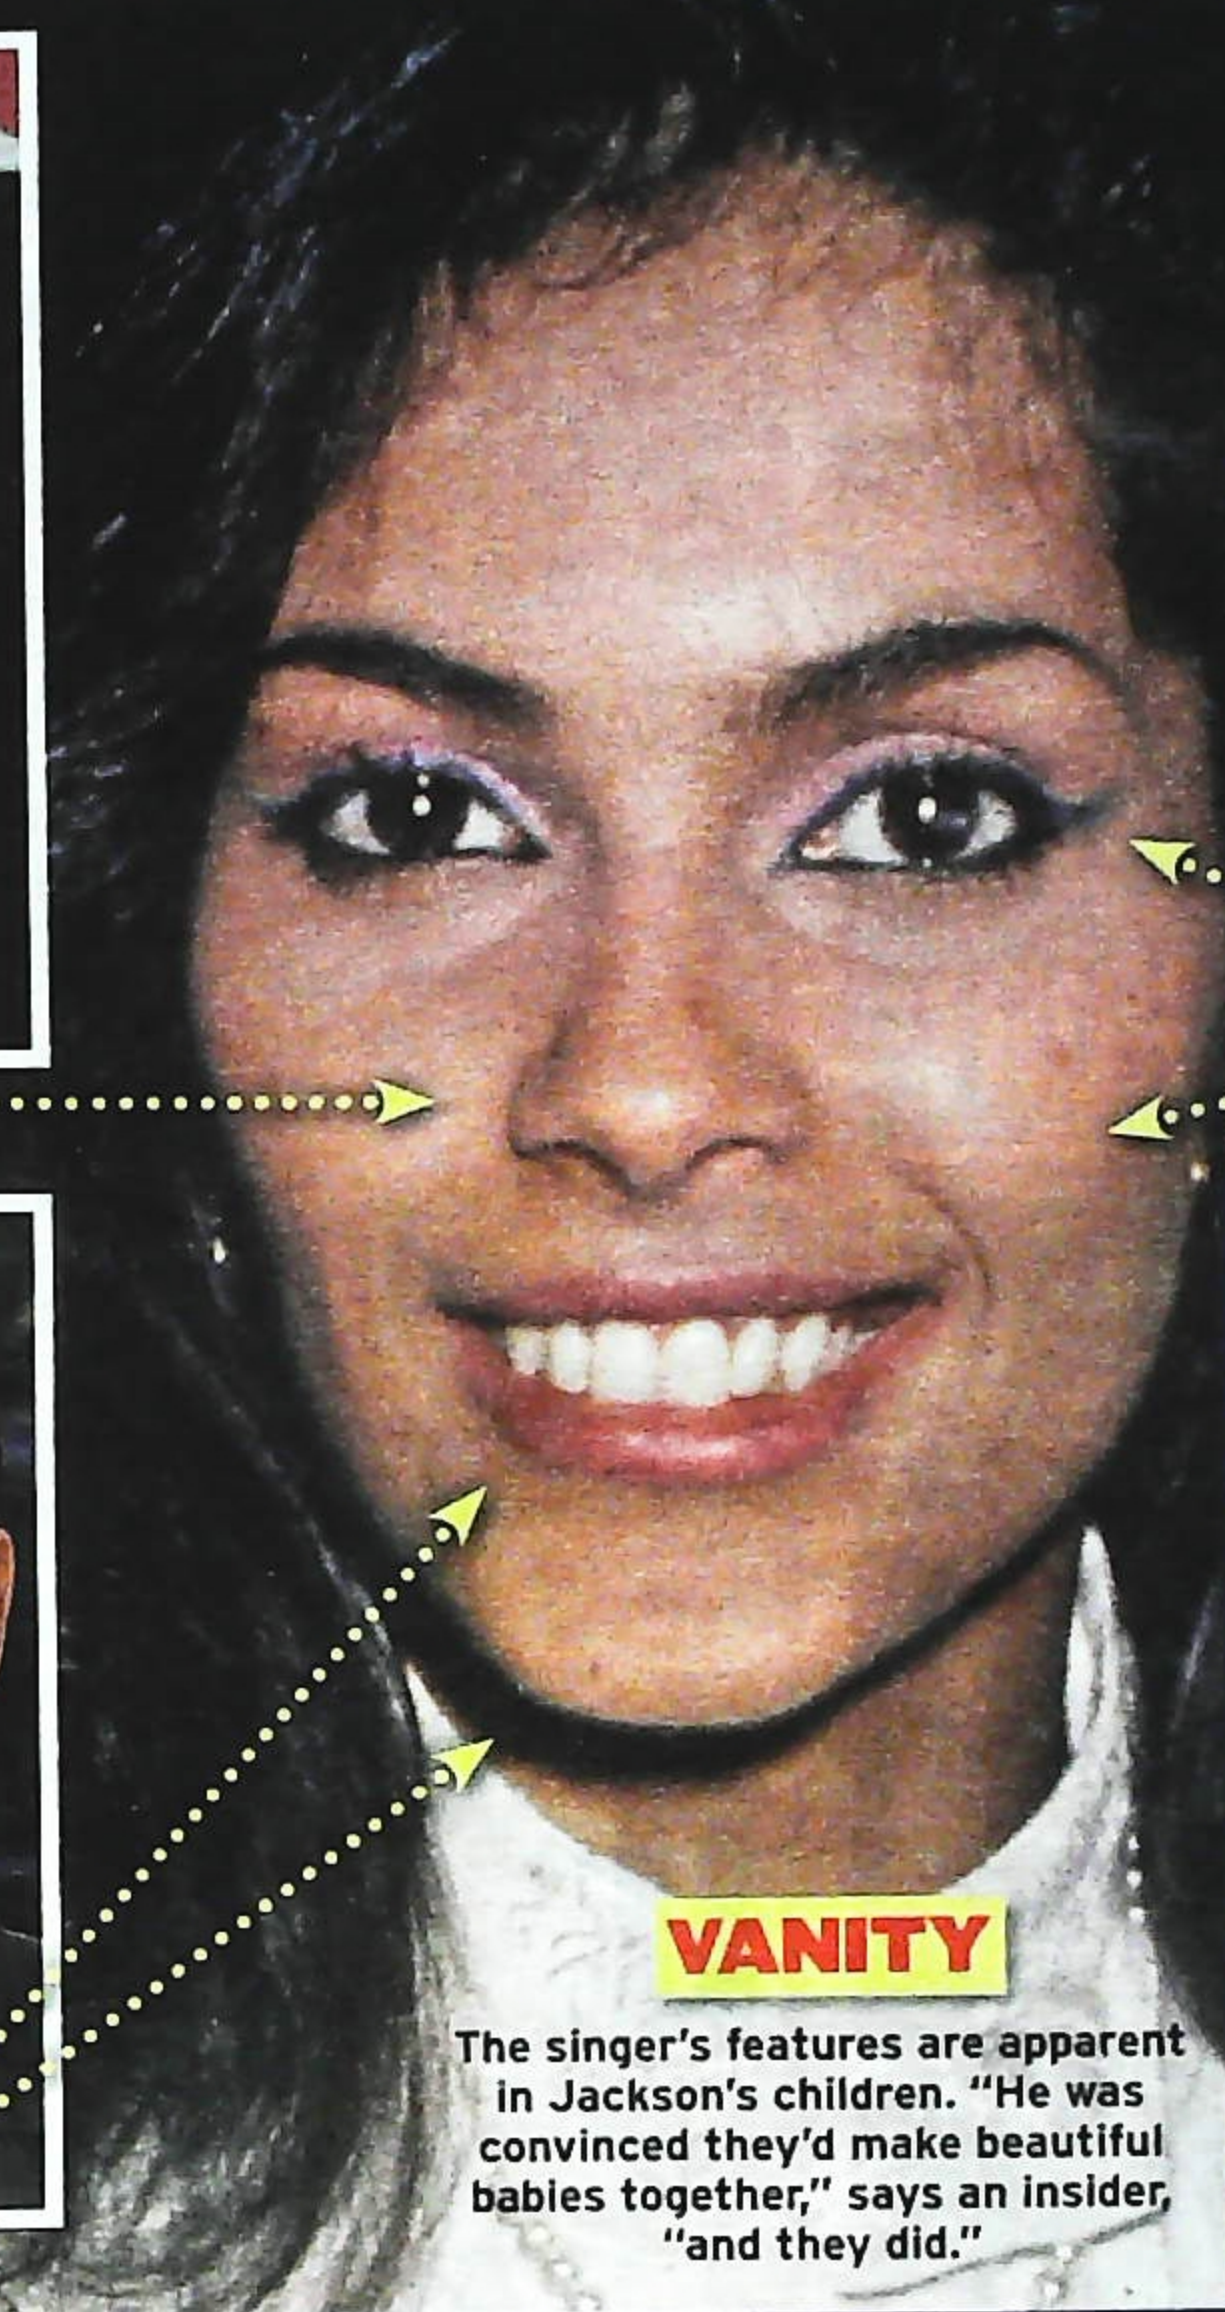

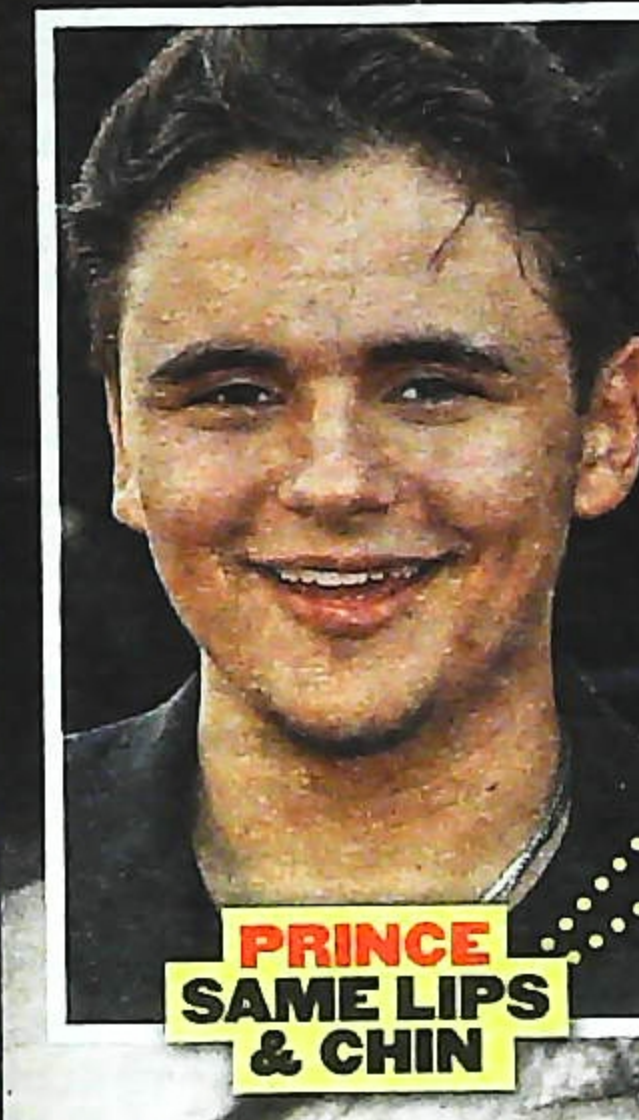

Rumors circulated for years that Rowe merely acted as surrogate, carrying the implanted eggs of another woman fertilized by Michael. But she has strongly denied that in the past. Michael's celebrity female friends and lovers, including ex-wife Lisa Marie Presley, Elizabeth Taylor, Madonna, Brooke Shields and Diana Ross, were all suspected of being possible egg donors over the years.

"But Michael clearly noted in his diaries Vanity is the mother of all three of his children, including his younger son, Blanket," says the source. The boy was born in California on Feb. 21, 2002.

"His diaries offer no clue who the surrogate was who carried Blanket," the source notes. "It definitely wasn't Debbie Rowe. There is a hint she was Swedish. But unless she comes forward we'll likely never know."

But one thing is very clear in the diary: Michael absolutely loved Vanity — and her relationship with Prince didn't stop him.

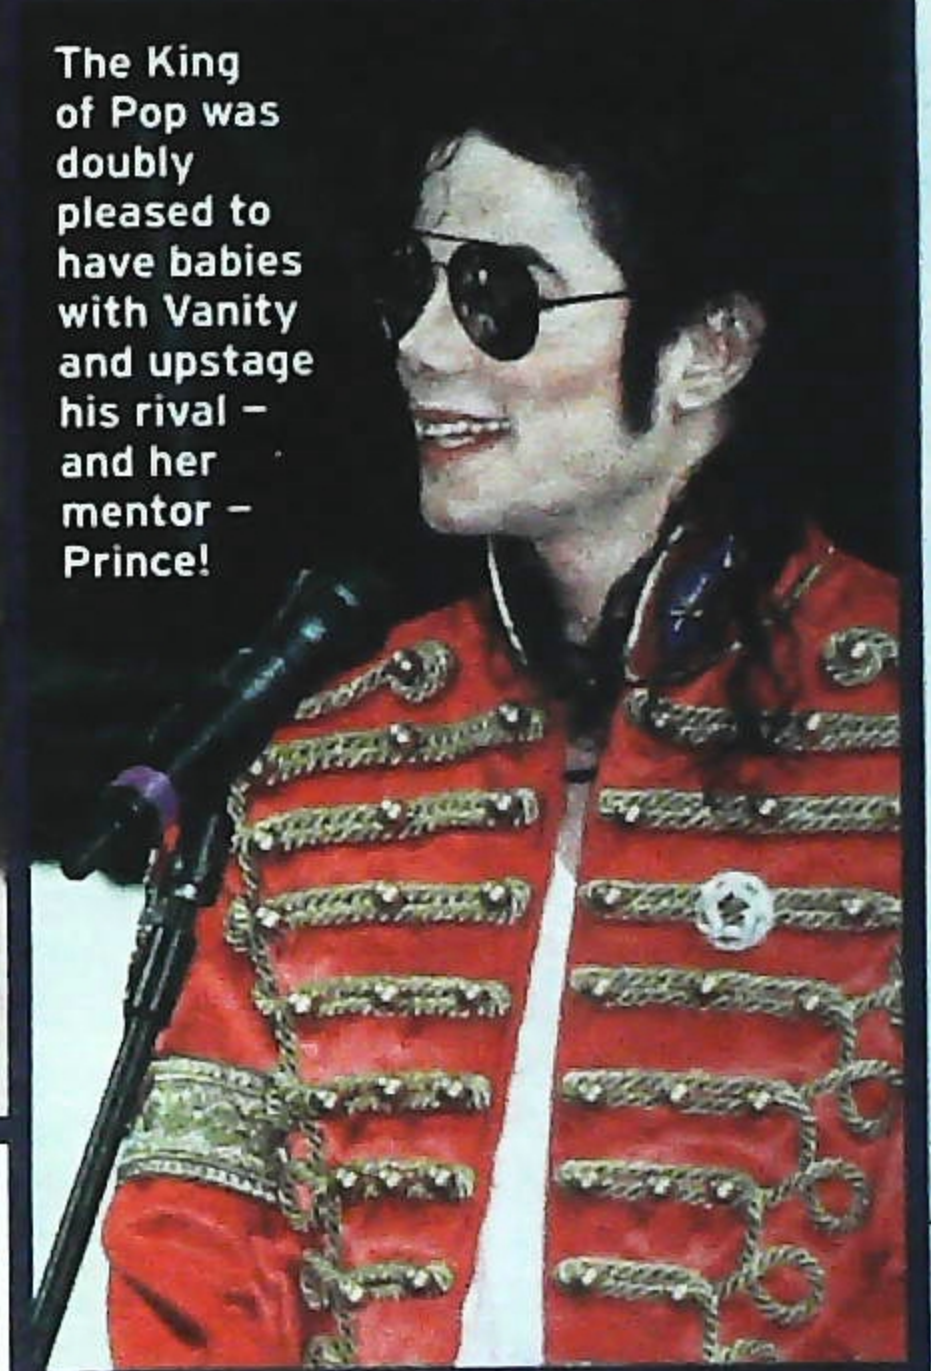

"He thought it was a feather in his cap that he'd befriended Vanity right under Prince's

The singer's features are apparent in Jackson's children. "He was convinced they'd make beautiful babies together," says an insider, "and they did."

nose," the insider says. "They would talk on the phone at all hours of the night. Vanity was loyal to Prince, but she adored Michael and would do anything for him — including harvesting her eggs to give him children."

"He thought she was the prettiest thing on Earth. He was convinced they would make beautiful babies together — and they did."

Other parts of Jackson's diary were made public in 2013 as part of a wrongful death suit against the promoter of his comeback concerts. Michael died while still rehearsing for the tour, but the public portion of his ledger reveals he grappled with his desperation to be "the greatest ever" performer — a bigger star than Gene Kelly and Fred Astaire — in the months before a fatal drug overdose that sent his doctor, Conrad Murray, to prison on an involuntary manslaughter rap.

"Michael kept extensive notes about his life," says the source. "But his family safeguards the remaining portion of the diary. I don't believe they will ever see the light of day."

Adolf Hitler (with Eva Braun, right) was poorly equipped to be leader of "The Fatherland"

SHOCKING PROOF HITLER CAME UP SHORT

Experts discover
Nazi's mini-manhood issue

TWO HISTORIANS have revealed that monstrous tyrant Adolf Hitler lived his life hiding a very, very small "secret."

GLOBE previously reported the Nazi leader had just one testicle, and now experts Jonathan Mayo and Emma Craigie have revealed his manhood was not only misshapen but tiny!

The pair say they've uncovered new records showing the Nazi leader had a condition called hypospadias, which can leave the sufferer with a malformed, micro-penis.

The authors describe it as "a rare condition ... in which the urethra opens on the underside of the penis."

Hitler, who never fathered kids, was well known to have a fear of people seeing him naked.

His personal doctor prescribed him hormones, amphetamines and cocaine to increase his sex drive with his girlfriend Eva Braun.

Nazi architect Albert Speer, who died in 1981, called Hitler a freak.

"By no means would I describe Adolf Hitler as sexually normal in his relationships with women. In the case of Eva Braun, in particular, it seems clear to me that aside from occasional passionate episodes, there was no sexual activity at all for long periods of time," writes Albert in "Inside the Third Reich."

AIR CRASH CANNIBAL FINALLY CONFESSES!

The Chilean survivors, left, faced a horrific ordeal of hunger and subzero cold. Roberto Canessa and his trek companion (below) were found and brought out by mounted police

DECADES after walking out of the Andes Mountains to save his frozen friends, a survivor of the 1972 plane crash that stunned the world has made a shocking cannibalistic revelation:

He was the one who first suggested eating human flesh to stay alive!

In a spellbinding, new book, Roberto Canessa recalls the unimaginable horror of sifting through his dead friends and then consuming flesh cut from their bodies in a desperate attempt to avoid death.

Roberto was only 19 years old when he and 32 other members of the Uruguayan rugby team boarded Uruguayan Air Force Flight 571 on Oct. 13, 1972.

When the plane went down, Roberto was gripping the arms of his seat so tightly that chunks of flesh were ripped from his hand!

But among the 45 people on board, he was one of the lucky ones! After regaining consciousness, he discovered 12 passengers and crew members had died in the crash. The next day, the number of survivors dropped from 33 to 28.

The first days were desperate as they dragged the dead from the fuselage, which kept them busy while awaiting rescue.

A couple of times they heard planes, but no rescue came.

As the days dragged on, more died. Out of supplies and trapped in 30-degree-below weather, the group grew desperate.

Roberto says it was his idea to turn corpses into food. Thin strips of flesh were laid out on sheet metal after they were cut.

"Each of us consumed a piece when he could finally bring himself to," Roberto writes.

"It was simultaneously simple and audacious, and perhaps inconceivable. But we had felt the sensation of our bodies consuming themselves to stay alive."

Ten days after the crash, they heard on their radio that the search for the plane had ended.

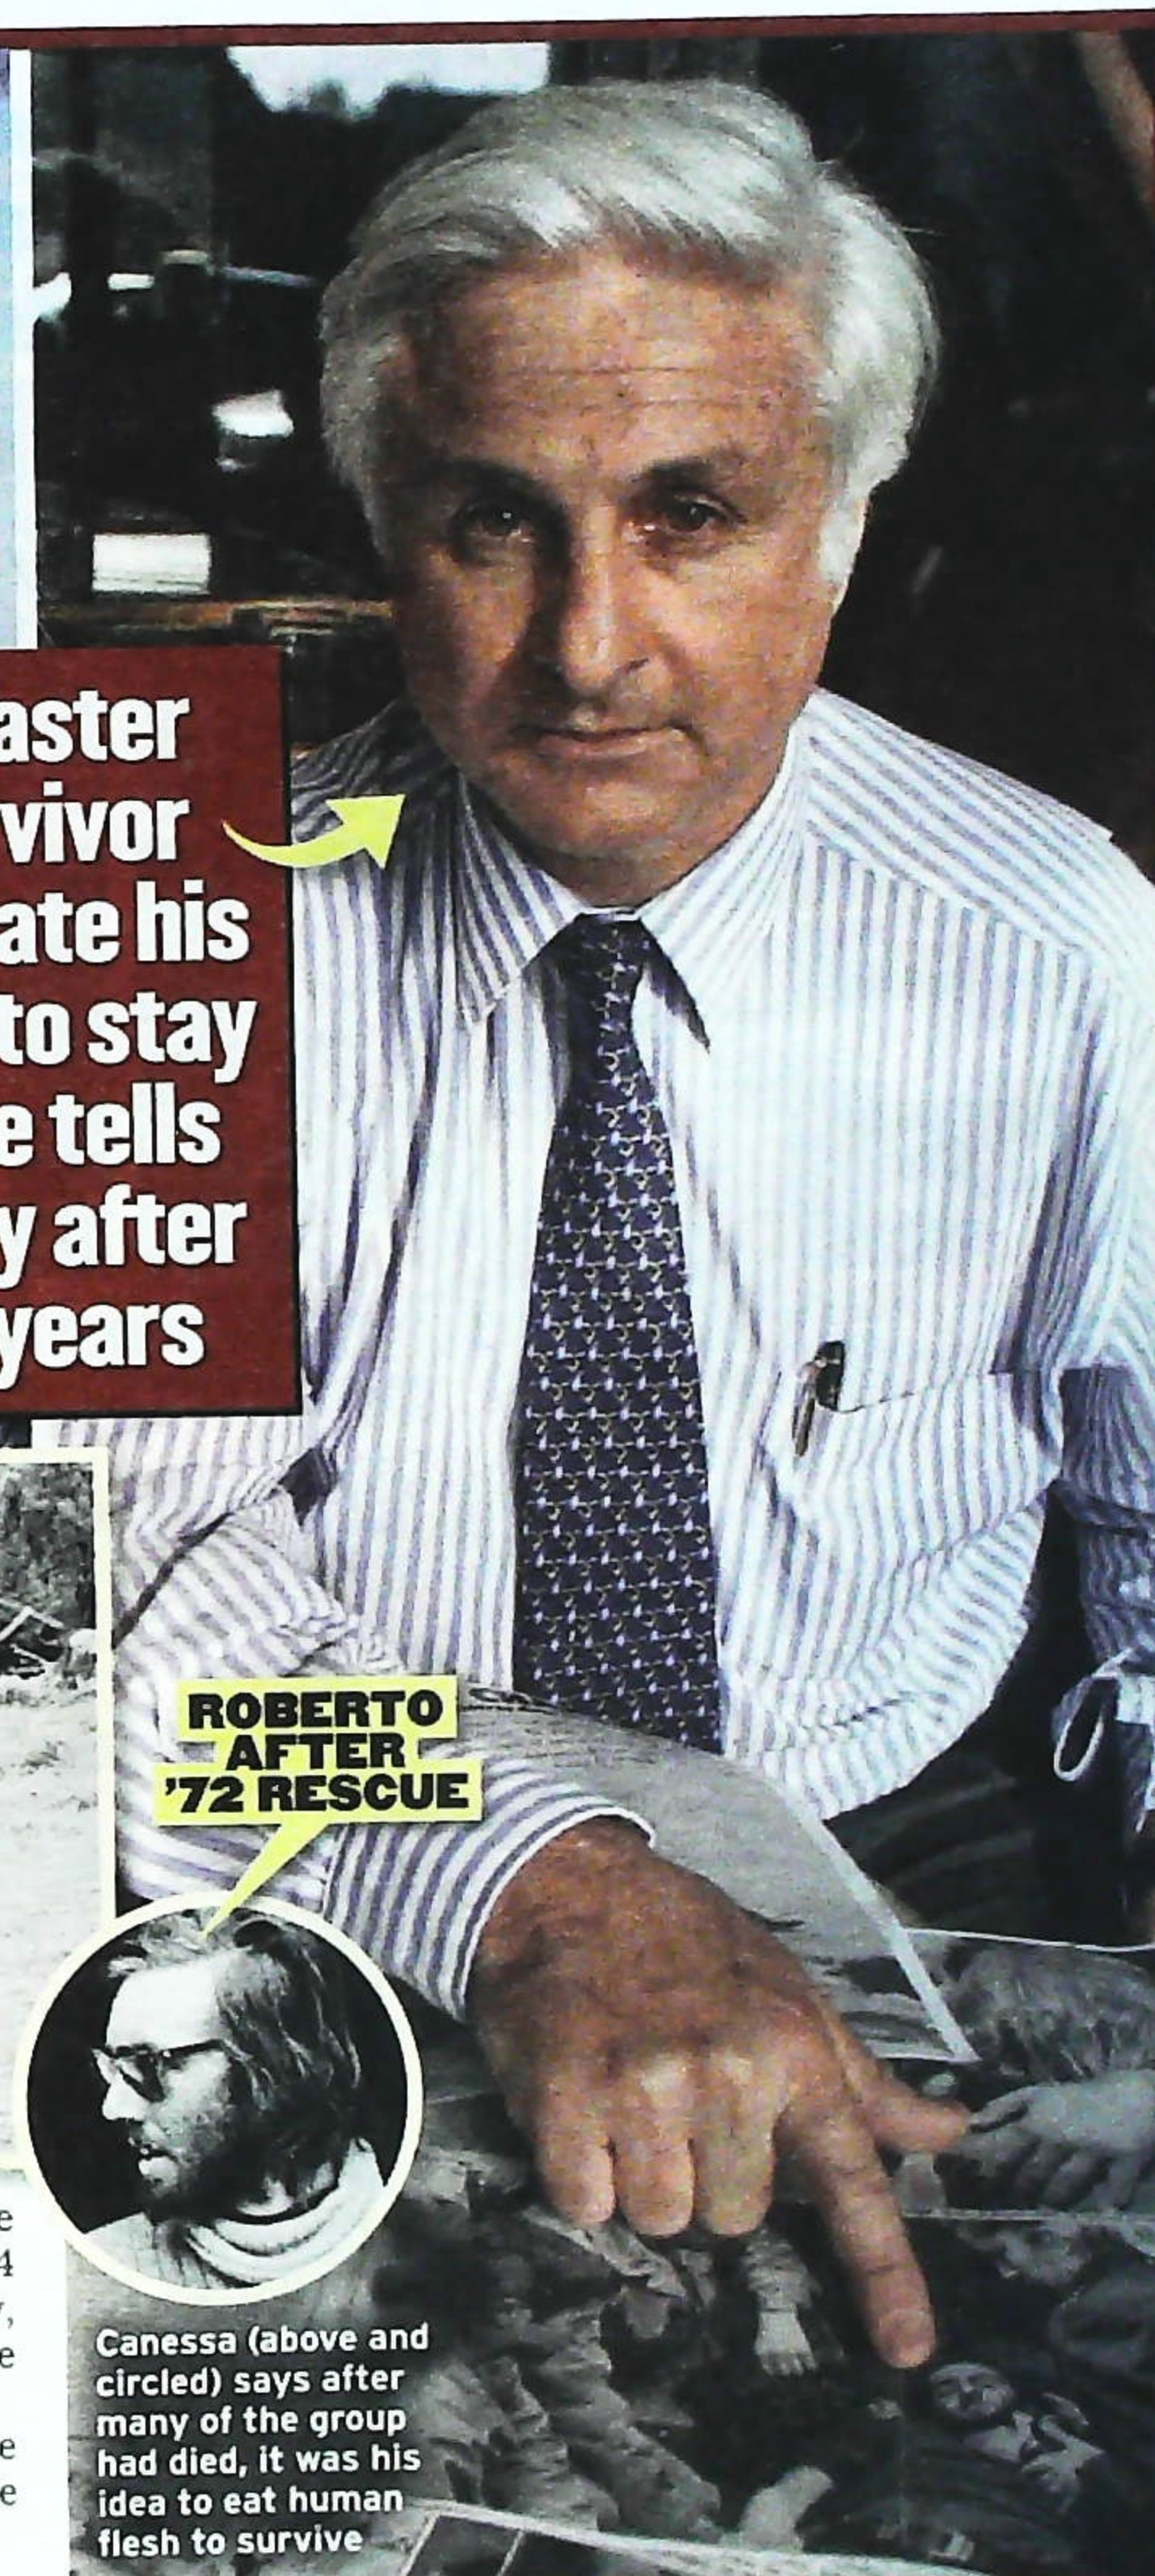

Roberto and a pal began a

EXPOSED! TOM SELLECK'S RED-HOT AFFAIRS!

'Blue Bloods' stud had Hollywood harem
AND a nasty divorce!

Tom Selleck, with wife Jillie Mack, may have Hollywood's hottest off-set romance story!

HEARTTHROB Tom Selleck has a real-life 28-year marriage while playing a staunch family man on "Blue Bloods" — but his past is peppered with a slew of spicy-hot affairs and a shocking dirty divorce!

Now GLOBE reveals the Selleck his fans don't know — the handsome former male model was one of Hollywood's rabid Romeos whose celebrity conquests included Goldie Hawn, Jane Seymour, Victoria Principal and Mimi Rogers, as well as a close relationship with his "Friends" love interest Courteney Cox!

"Tom could have any woman he wanted — and often did," says an insider. "He was the 1980s' matinee idol and had a wild sex life with some of the era's most beautiful women!"

Wed to second wife Jillie Mack since 1987, Selleck, now 71, turned into a Tom-cat about the time his 10-year first marriage to model Jacquelyn Ray crashed in September 1979.

He left her in L.A. for Hawaii, where he'd just nabbed his star-making role of private eye Thomas Magnum in "Magnum, P.I."

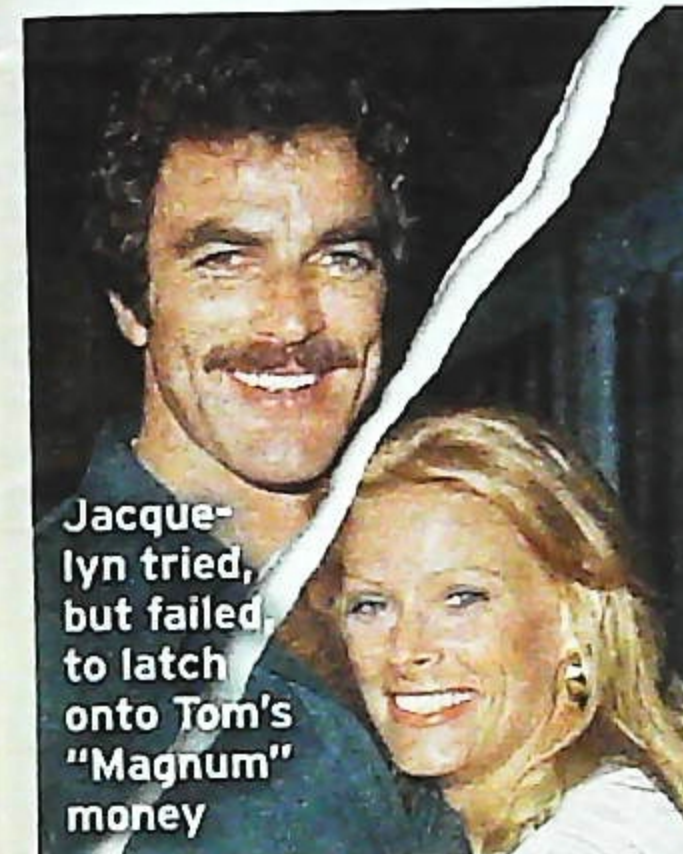

As soon as he hit the island state, he found "paradise in the arms of a bevy of local beauties," says a TV bigwig who worked with the hunk.

"Tom is a very charming guy," says the source. "He fell in love with the island and with the island girls."

In April 1981, he also rekindled an old romance with "Days of Our Lives" femme fatale Francine York, whom he'd briefly wooed in late 1979 following the split from Jacquelyn.

After Francine, the strapping, 6-foot-4 hunk turned to Goldie Hawn. Sources say he "quietly dated" the "Private Benjamin" beauty during the spring of '81 after they met at a party in Hawaii given by a pal.

"All of Hollywood's women want Tom Selleck — but Goldie has him," a source told GLOBE at the time. "I've been to parties with them and they openly kiss and cuddle."

Then, during the filming of the TV movie "Divorce Wars" in the summer of '81, Mimi Rogers, the future Mrs. Tom Cruise, caught his eye.

Their romance ignited when Mimi visited Hawaii for a guest shot on "Magnum" before Christmas.

But by April 1982, Tom was wooing "Dallas" love goddess Victoria Principal. At the time, Tom and Victoria were TV's top sex symbols.

Still, months later, a GLOBE reporter discovered Tom on a sizzling five-day jaunt with beautiful Phyllis Davis, former co-star of TV's "Vega$, at a Yugoslavia hotel.

Meanwhile, during these torrid playboy years, Tom was hammering out a bitter divorce with Jacquelyn.

She tried to nab a piece of his "Magnum" pie in the settlement. But since they had separated just before he landed the series, her lawyers told her "she didn't have a leg to stand on," says a source.

Court papers show she got their $400,000 L.A. house with all the furnishings, $75,000 a month in alimony for three years, and half the royalties from the TV shows and eight movies he appeared in during their marriage.

Tom was also ordered to pay $12,555 owed on her leased 1980 Audi and buy a $100,000 life insurance policy. Jacquelyn's son from a previous marriage was named beneficiary until he reached 18. Selleck also gave Jacquelyn an interest-free $25,000 loan repayable in 1985. Worth an estimated $20 million by then, Tom's divorce from Jacquelyn was finalized on Aug. 10, 1982.

Still, his love life was rolling at full speed. He had steamy movie romances with gorgeous Jane Seymour, his leading lady in 1984's "Lassiter," and top model Paulina Porizkova, his co-star in 1989's "Her Alibi." He also played Courteney's beau on the hit sitcom "Friends," but both stars are mum about their relationship.

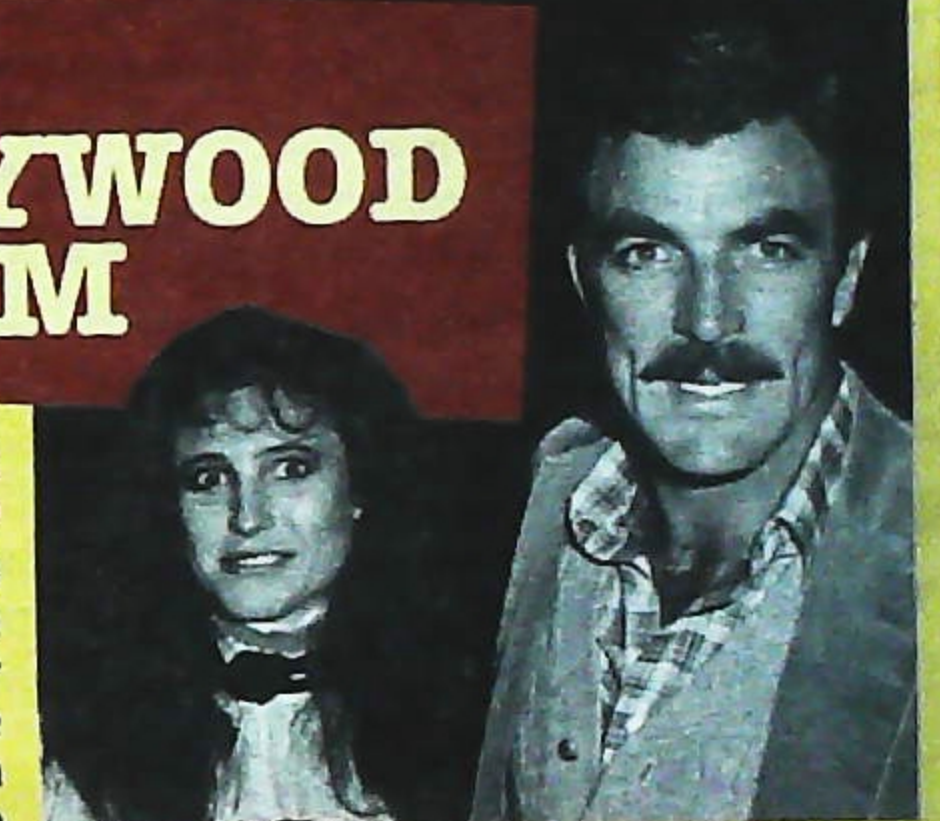

However, Tom's very vocal about his love for his current wife — and pals say the reformed ladies' man has NEVER strayed!

to brother William, 33, and his wife Kate, 34, he's a bit jealous of their loving family life with royal tots George, 2, and Charlotte, 10 months.

"I would love to have kids right now," Harry confided to a pal. "It would be great to have someone else next to me to share the pressure of royal life.

"I've never wanted the party-prince tag. But you can't force these things."

So far, the 6-foot-3 bachelor has been unlucky in love.

He had a seven-year relationship with Zimbabwean lawyer Chelsy Davy, 29, before dating dancer and 27-year-old actress Cressida Bonas for two years. They split in 2014.

Since then, he's had no serious girlfriend.

He's also become a source of pride and shame for the Royal Family. His heroic service with the British army in the war against terrorism heaped honor on his kin. But his embarrassing playboy antics, including a scandalous naked romp in Las Vegas, has left his grandmother Queen Elizabeth humiliated.

"The truth is Harry has emerged as the royal megastar and the Queen would love him to meet someone just like Kate," says the insider.

"With his rebellious past, there's a constant fear he could still fall into the wrong company."

"Harry's desire to settle down and have his own family is strong. He just doesn't know how to achieve it."

As GLOBE reported in our Oct. 12 issue, Kate had narrowed Harry's choices to Chelsy and Cressida.

And she advised him to go with blonde Chelsy.

Since then, unsure Harry has balked.

"That's why he swallowed his pride and got Camilla involved," says the insider.

And he's sparked a new royal war.

"You can bet Kate will go all-out to find Harry a bride before Camilla does," adds the source. "But Camilla says common-born Kate doesn't have the right connections to find a royal bride."

HE's been playing goofy, wise-cracking mystery writer Richard Castle for almost a decade, but Nathan Fillion, 44, has a bunch of other quirky credits under his kilt ... er, his belt. We share his early gigs, his claim to nerd fame – and why he and his sexy "Castle" co-star had to dial down the steam! Here are 10 things you didn't know about the charming Canadian.

1. Canadian native Nathan is the son of two retired high school teachers – and his brother is a teacher, too!

2. "I don't get hit on often by any fans," he says, except for "a flirt now and again."

3. He owns – and likes to wear – a leather kilt.

4. He achieved cult status on the geeky fan convention circuit after playing Mal on the short-lived FOX show "Firefly."

5. Nathan used to deliver singing telegrams – dressed as Tarzan.

6. His first big acting job was as cougar-bait cutie Joey Buchanan on "One Life to Live" from 1994 to 1997.

10 THINGS YOU DON'T KNOW ABOUT NATHAN FILLION

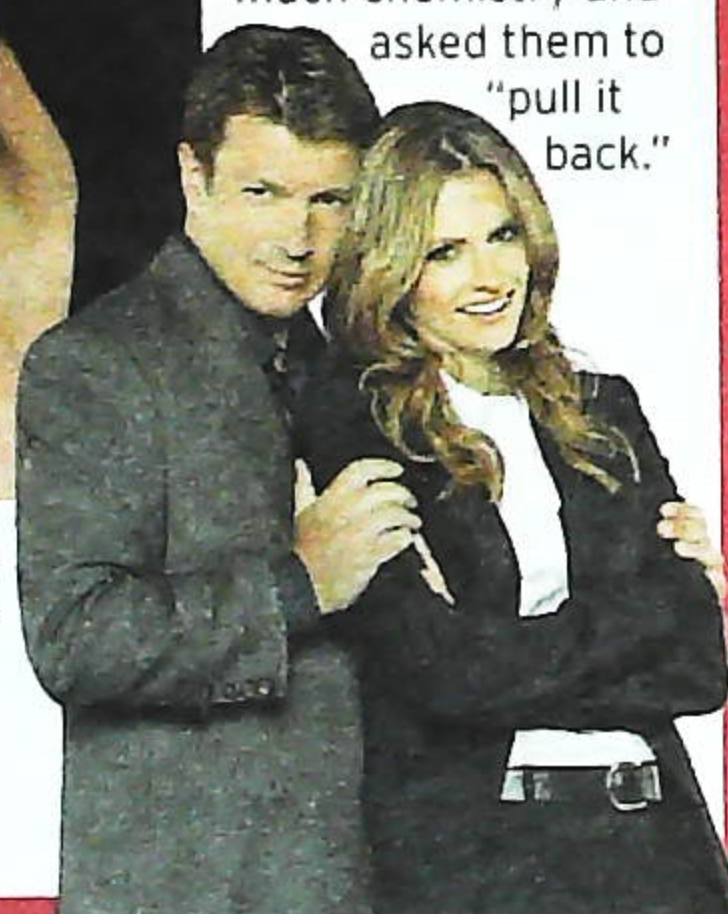

7. He can sing! He was in a musical comedy with Neil Patrick Harris called "Dr. Horrible's Sing-Along Blog."

8. Nathan's most recent squeeze is George Clooney's ex, actress Krista Allen!

9. He's the voice of the Green Lantern in a series of "Justice League" animated movies.

10. When Nathan and Stana Katic filmed the first episode of "Castle," network execs thought they had too much chemistry and asked them to "pull it back."

CARY GRANT WAS CHEAP!

SUAVE, handsome Cary Grant was adored by millions of love-struck female fans, but in real life the snooty "North by Northwest" hunk was the cheapest man in Tinseltown!

According to Australian-born designer pal Orry-Kelly, who once shared an apartment with the then-unknown Archibald Leach, the snobbish star "didn't want to associate with folks who'd known him before he was famous!"

In his just-released book "Women I've Undressed," the late Kelly, who won an Oscar for "American in Paris," reveals British-born Grant handed him a $360.48 bill for bar and dinner tabs he'd picked up during their lean years.

Furious, Kelly paid – and Grant took the dough without a blink. The designer also recalled Grant offering his "His Girl Friday" co-star Rosalind Russell use of his spare Rolls-Royce.

"She looked pleased until Grant added: 'Call my agents. They will give you the rental fee and cost of the chauffeur.'"

WAR IN THE STREETS!

Macho cops call out gun-toting punks

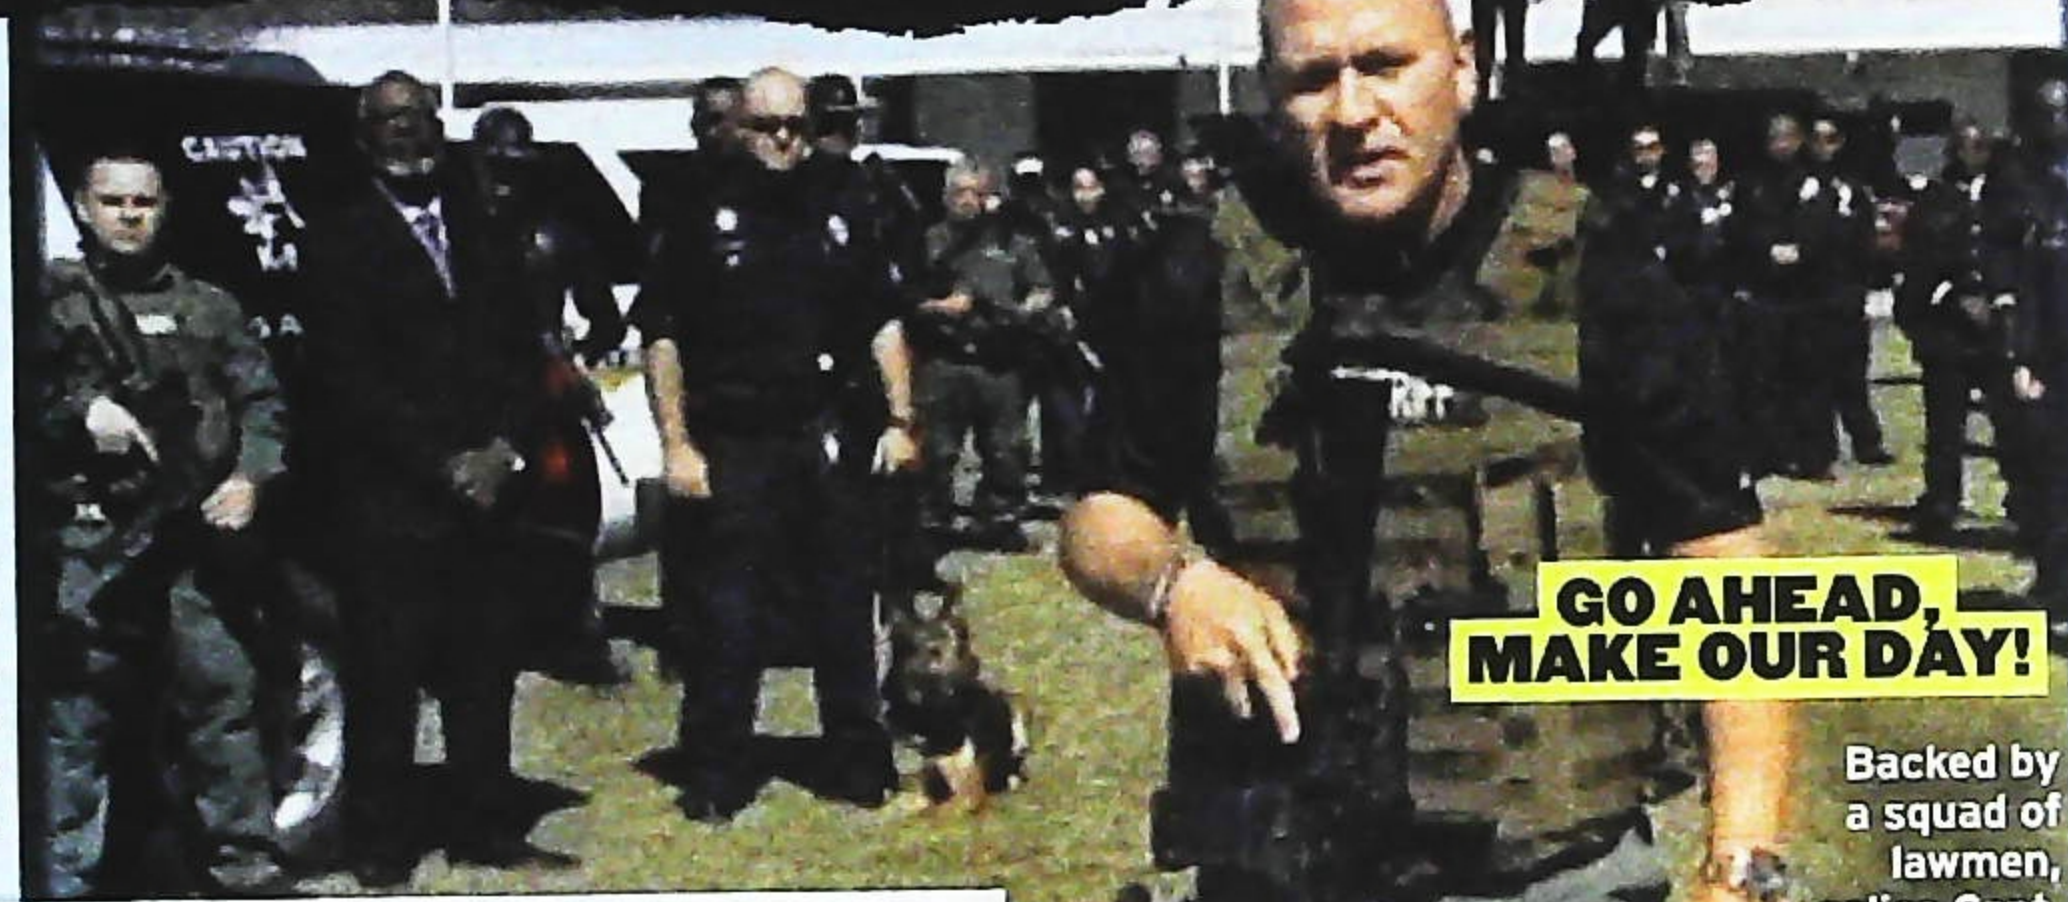

NO-NONSENSE police Capt. Clay Higgins has put a vicious gang of punks on notice with a tough-talking video announcing he's going to track the "animals" down!

"You will be hunted. You will be tracked. And if you raise your weapon to a man like me, we'll return fire with superior power," vows Clay in a stern video message where he stands in unison with dozens of other police officials.

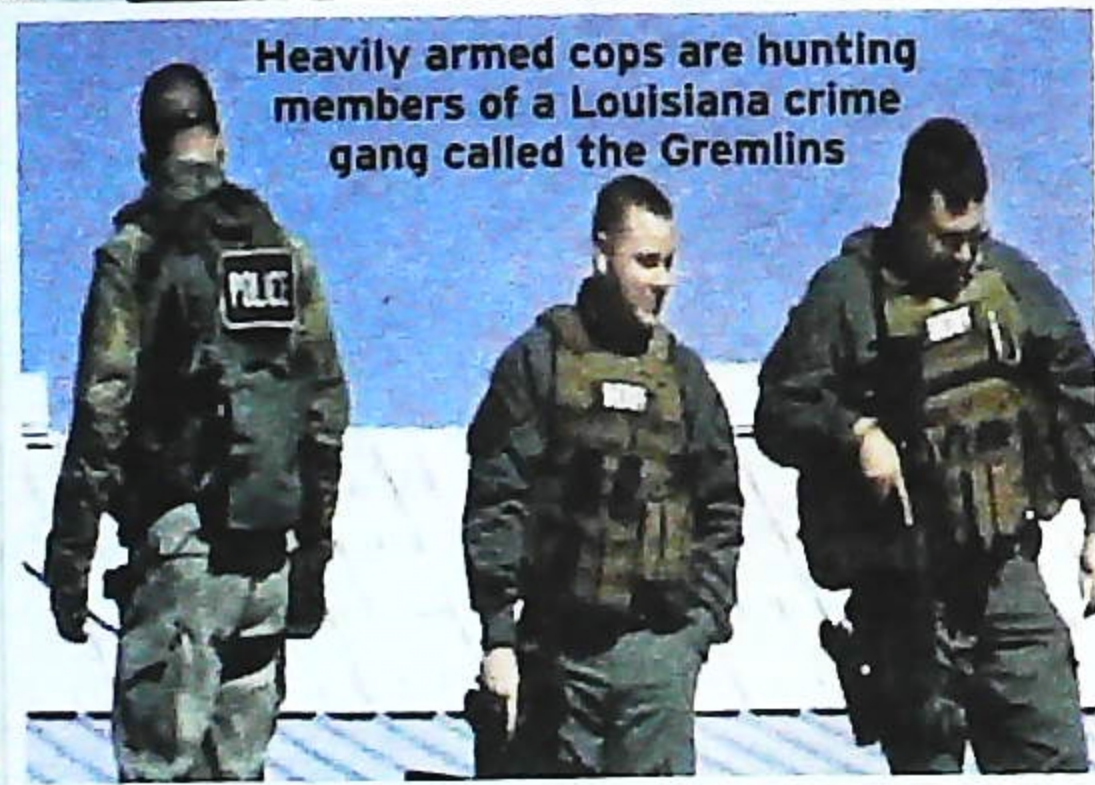

Higgins is taking aim at a merciless gang known as the Gremlins, which has been terrorizing his community of St. Landry Parish in south-central Louisiana.

"Every one of these animals is most definitely armed and dangerous," he says of the gang members, who have been accused of murder, theft and drugs.

Addressing one specific thug, Higgins faces the camera while asking, "You think men like these (officers) are afraid of an uneducated, 125-pound punk like you that's never won a fair fight in your life and

Heavily armed cops are hunting members of a Louisiana crime gang called the Gremlins holds your gun sideways?"

He then makes a chilling prediction to anyone stupid enough to call his bluff.

"I'll meet you on solid ground anytime, anywhere, light or heavy, makes no difference to me. You won't walk away."

page. He's even launched a website that sells merchandise such as t-shirts and shot glasses that prominently feature his likeness.

Some of the items are inscribed with tough slogans like "Pay Attention Son" and "Redemption." Those proceeds are directed to helping the homeless and crime victims.

The fantastic captain hopes his team's forceful message will lead to the capture of other gang members, who boldly boast about their exploits in rap videos they post online.

"The Gremlin street gang is all bad," he bluntly says. "And the fact that they're so extremely violent, every day that they're loose is a danger to the community."

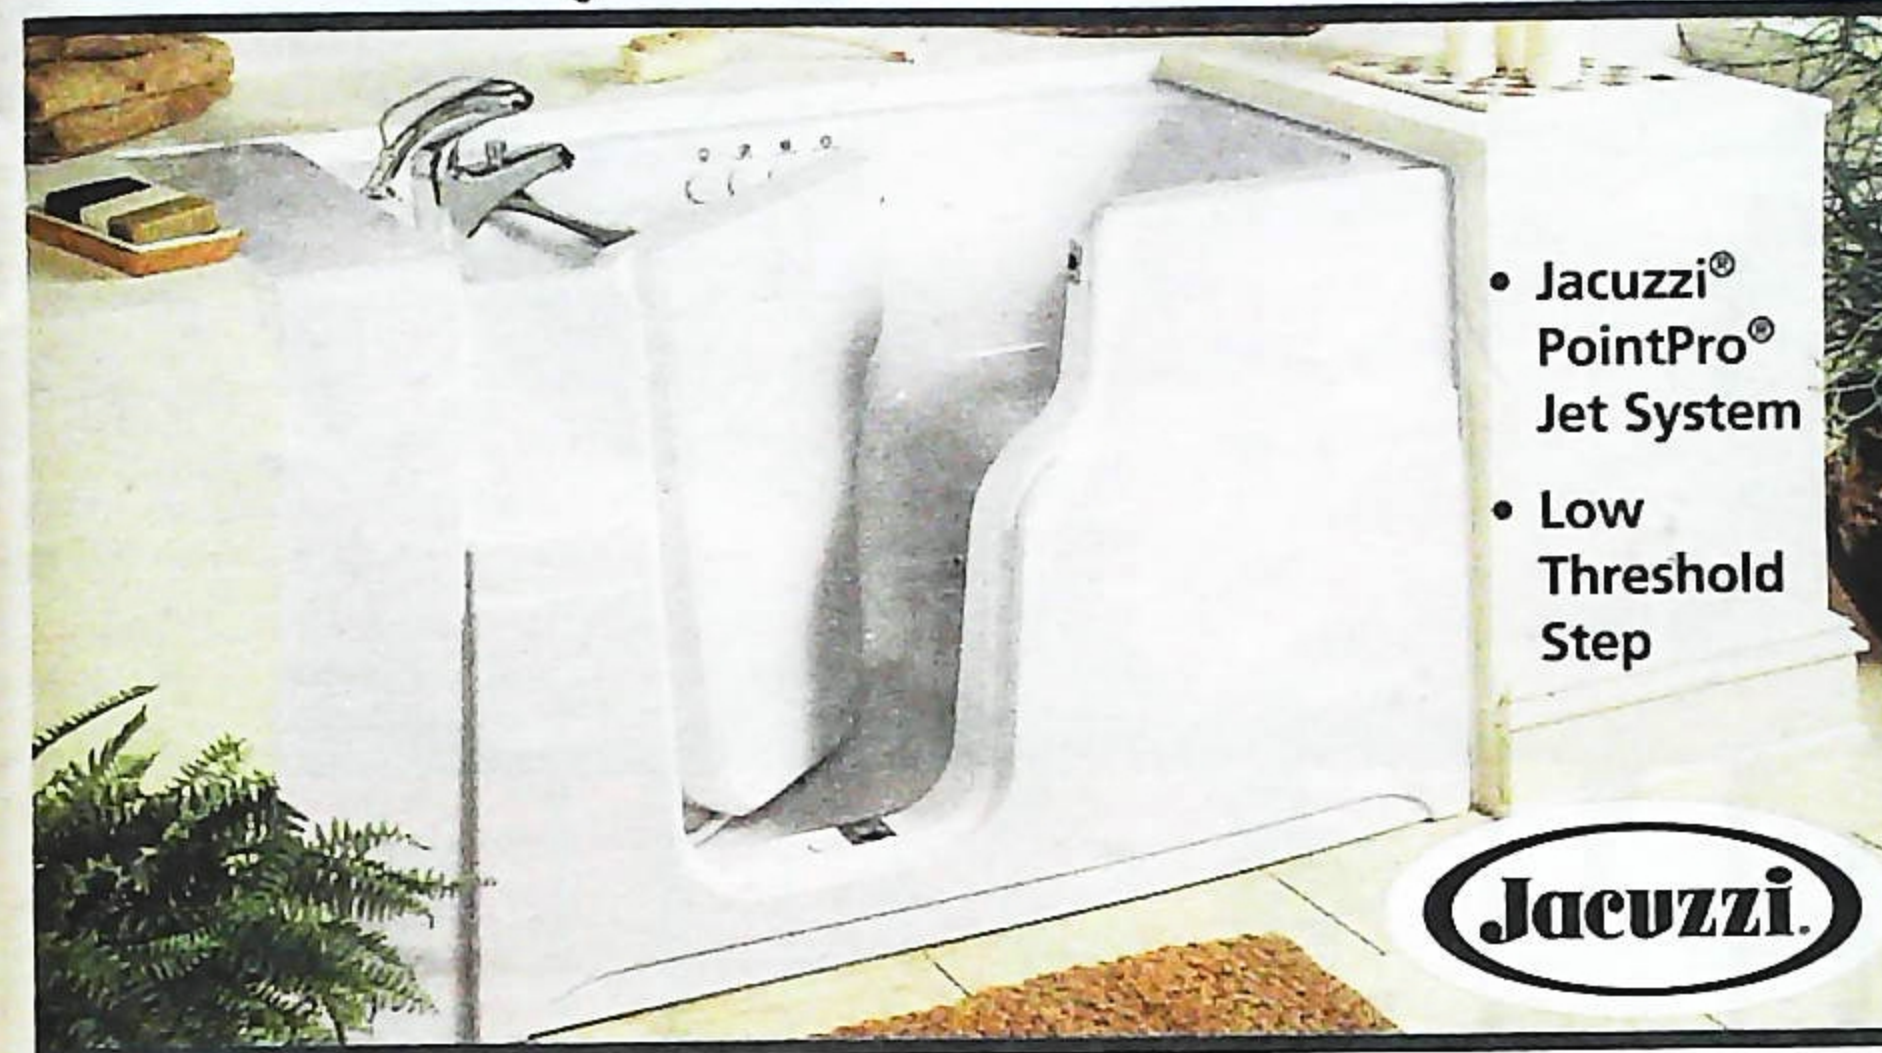

Backed by a squad of lawmen, police Capt. Clay Higgins issued a video warning to a violent street gang

Enjoy A Bath Again... Safely and Affordably

- Jacuzzi® PointPro® Jet System

There is nothing like the simple pleasure of taking a warm bath. The cares of the day seem to fade away, along with the aches and pains of everyday life. Unfortunately for many aging Americans with mobility issues, slipping into a bath can result in slipping onto the floor. The fear of falling has made the simple act of bathing and its therapeutic benefits a thing of the past until now. Jacuzzi®, the company that perfected hydrotherapy, has created a walk-in tub that offers more than just safe bathing, peace-of-mind and independence, it can actually help you feel better.

SEE THE DIFFERENCE

Laboratory tests clearly show how Jacuzzi® jets outperform other manufacturers' jet systems, producing a deeper and wider plume of revitalizing bubbles. Best of all, it doesn't cost you a penny more!

What To Look For in a Walk-In Tub:

Five major considerations to help make an informed decision before buying a Walk-In Tub:

- Quality - A walk-in tub is a major investment. You want to find a quality tub that will last for decades. Look for one that's 100% leak-proof, mold-resistant, full metal frame construction and one that's American made.
- Warranty - Ask for a lifetime "no leak guarantee" The best tubs offer a lifetime warranty on both the tub and the operating system.
- Pain Relieving Therapy - Find a tub that has both water and air jet therapy to soak away your aches and pains preferably with a perfectly balanced water to air mix.
- Comfort - Insist on ergonomic design, easy-to-reach controls.
- Endorsements - Only consider tubs that are ETL or UL listed. Also look for a tub tested to IAPMO (International Assoc. of Plumbing and Mechanical Officials) standards and that's USPC (Universal Spa Plumbing Code) Certified.

Jason Dotson (right) fetched four weeks in jail by trying to frame an innocent pooch for the attack of a brutal pit pull (like the one at right)

DOGGONE CRUEL!

Sly owner jailed for switching innocent pup with vicious pitbull slated for execution

A BARKING-MAD judge has thrown the book at a bozo pet owner who tried to keep his vicious dog from being put down by bringing in a totally innocent pooch to be executed instead!

Jason Dotson of Ohio was hauled into court after his off-the-leash dog savagely attacked Robert Martin, who suffers from Parkinson's disease, and Robert's service dog, Buddy, during a walk.

After the vicious mauling, Dotson was charged with failing to confine his animal and was ordered to have it put down.

But come termination day, Dotson tried to pull a fast one by substituting a new dog for his old one!

Prosecutors say Dotson, 32, adopted a canine named Baby from an animal shelter. Two days later he returned and told workers that Baby was the animal ordered to be destroyed.

Luckily, an eagle-eyed shelter worker spotted the difference, and a microchip revealed Baby's true identity.

"Defendant brought a dog that wasn't his dog, said it was his dog, and turned that over to the SPCA (the shelter) so they would destroy an innocent dog that hadn't done anything to anybody," said prosecutor Ryan Nelson.

The judge howled that Dotson should be ashamed of himself for his stupid scheme.

"It's one thing, Mr. Dotson, for you to ignore a court order. It's quite another thing to try to perpetrate a fraud on this court. In my 10 years as a judge, I can't recall a more cold and heartless act," said Judge Brad Greenberg, who sentenced him to 28 days behind bars.

"If I could give you more time legally, I would," a disgusted Greenberg spat before closing the case.

Thankfully, Baby is safe and back in the shelter awaiting a loving family, and Buddy is back to work bringing joy to patients in hospice care!

BED-HOPPER BRUCE'S WIFE BRACES FOR $10M TELL-ALL!

SKIRT-CHASING rocker Bruce Springsteen is about to blow the lid off his womanizing in a bombshell tell-all that's so racy he penned it in secret — to keep his backup singer-wife Patti Scialfa in the dark!

Now sources say Patti, 62, who married him in 1991 and is mom of his three kids, fears she's in for an embarrassing ride.

Bruce, 66, got a whopping $10 million advance and is expected to bare the sizzling details of his affairs — including his reported relationship with redhead New Jersey housewife Ann Kelly, which began in 2005.

"Patti is bracing for the disclosures in the book," an insider tells GLOBE.

"He didn't want to show it to her because he feared it could hurt their chemistry

Patti Scialfa & Bruce Springsteen (above) found harmony on tour in 1988 (circled), but a new book may strike a bad chord for the couple on his current concert tour, where Patti performs alongside of him."

The "Born to Run" legend was so worried about the fallout from Patti that he wrote his book "in a remote barn office on their sprawling New Jersey property and kept the manuscript under lock and key!" says the source.

While Bruce and Ann have both denied having steamy trysts, her husband Arthur charged in court papers she "committed adultery with one Bruce Springsteen ... at various times and places too numerous to mention."

Springsteen first spied Ann on a treadmill at a Garden State fitness center. Court papers say he enjoyed looking at "the nicest ass in the gym!"

Now, The Boss is expected to 'fess up to his cheatin' ways in the upcoming memoir.

"In a project like this, the writer has made one promise, to show the reader his mind," Springsteen says. "In these pages, I've tried to do this."

BABY DAD TRIPPS UP BRISTOL PALIN!

SERIAL baby mama Bristol Palin, 25, has lost a costly custody battle with ex-fiancé Levi Johnston — and is STILL locked in a battle with the father of her second baby!

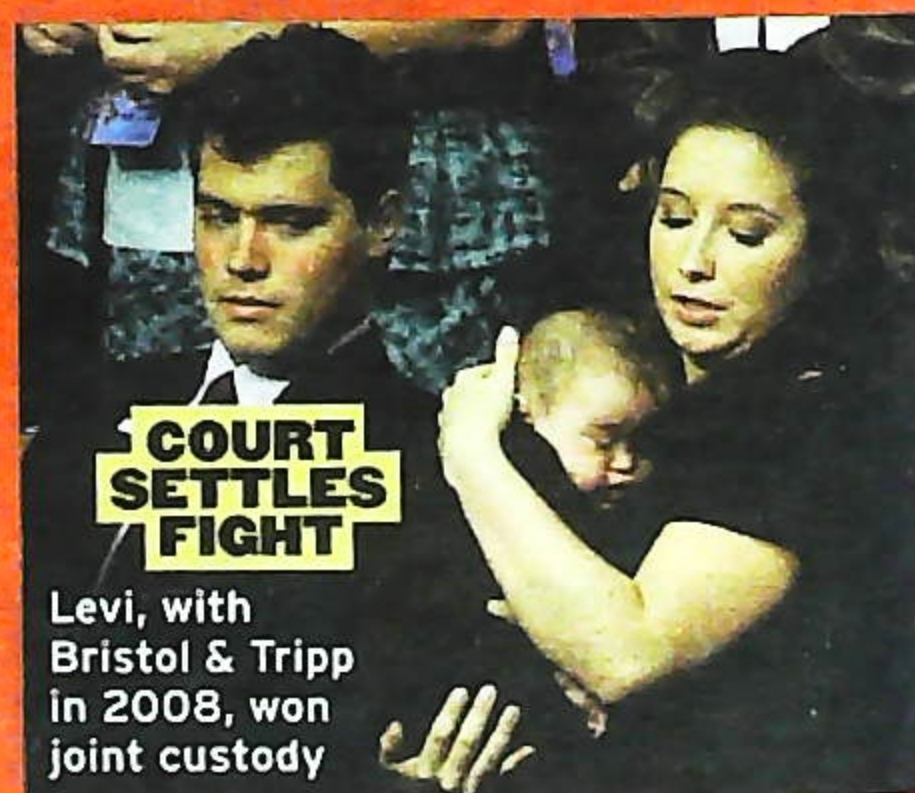

Ending a grueling court clash over 7-year-old son Tripp, Levi was awarded joint custody, Levi says

Bristol, a former abstinence spokeswoman, only let him see Tripp two days a week.

Bristol's plea for $66,000 in child support from Levi was also denied.

"I'm so happy to have my son in my life," declares Levi, 24, who says he spent $100,000 on legal costs.

Meanwhile Bristol — the daughter of former Vice Presidential candidate Sarah Palin — is fighting a joint custody request by Dakota Meyer. The father of newborn daughter Sailor lives in Kentucky, which makes drop-offs tricky — since Bristol lives in Alaska.

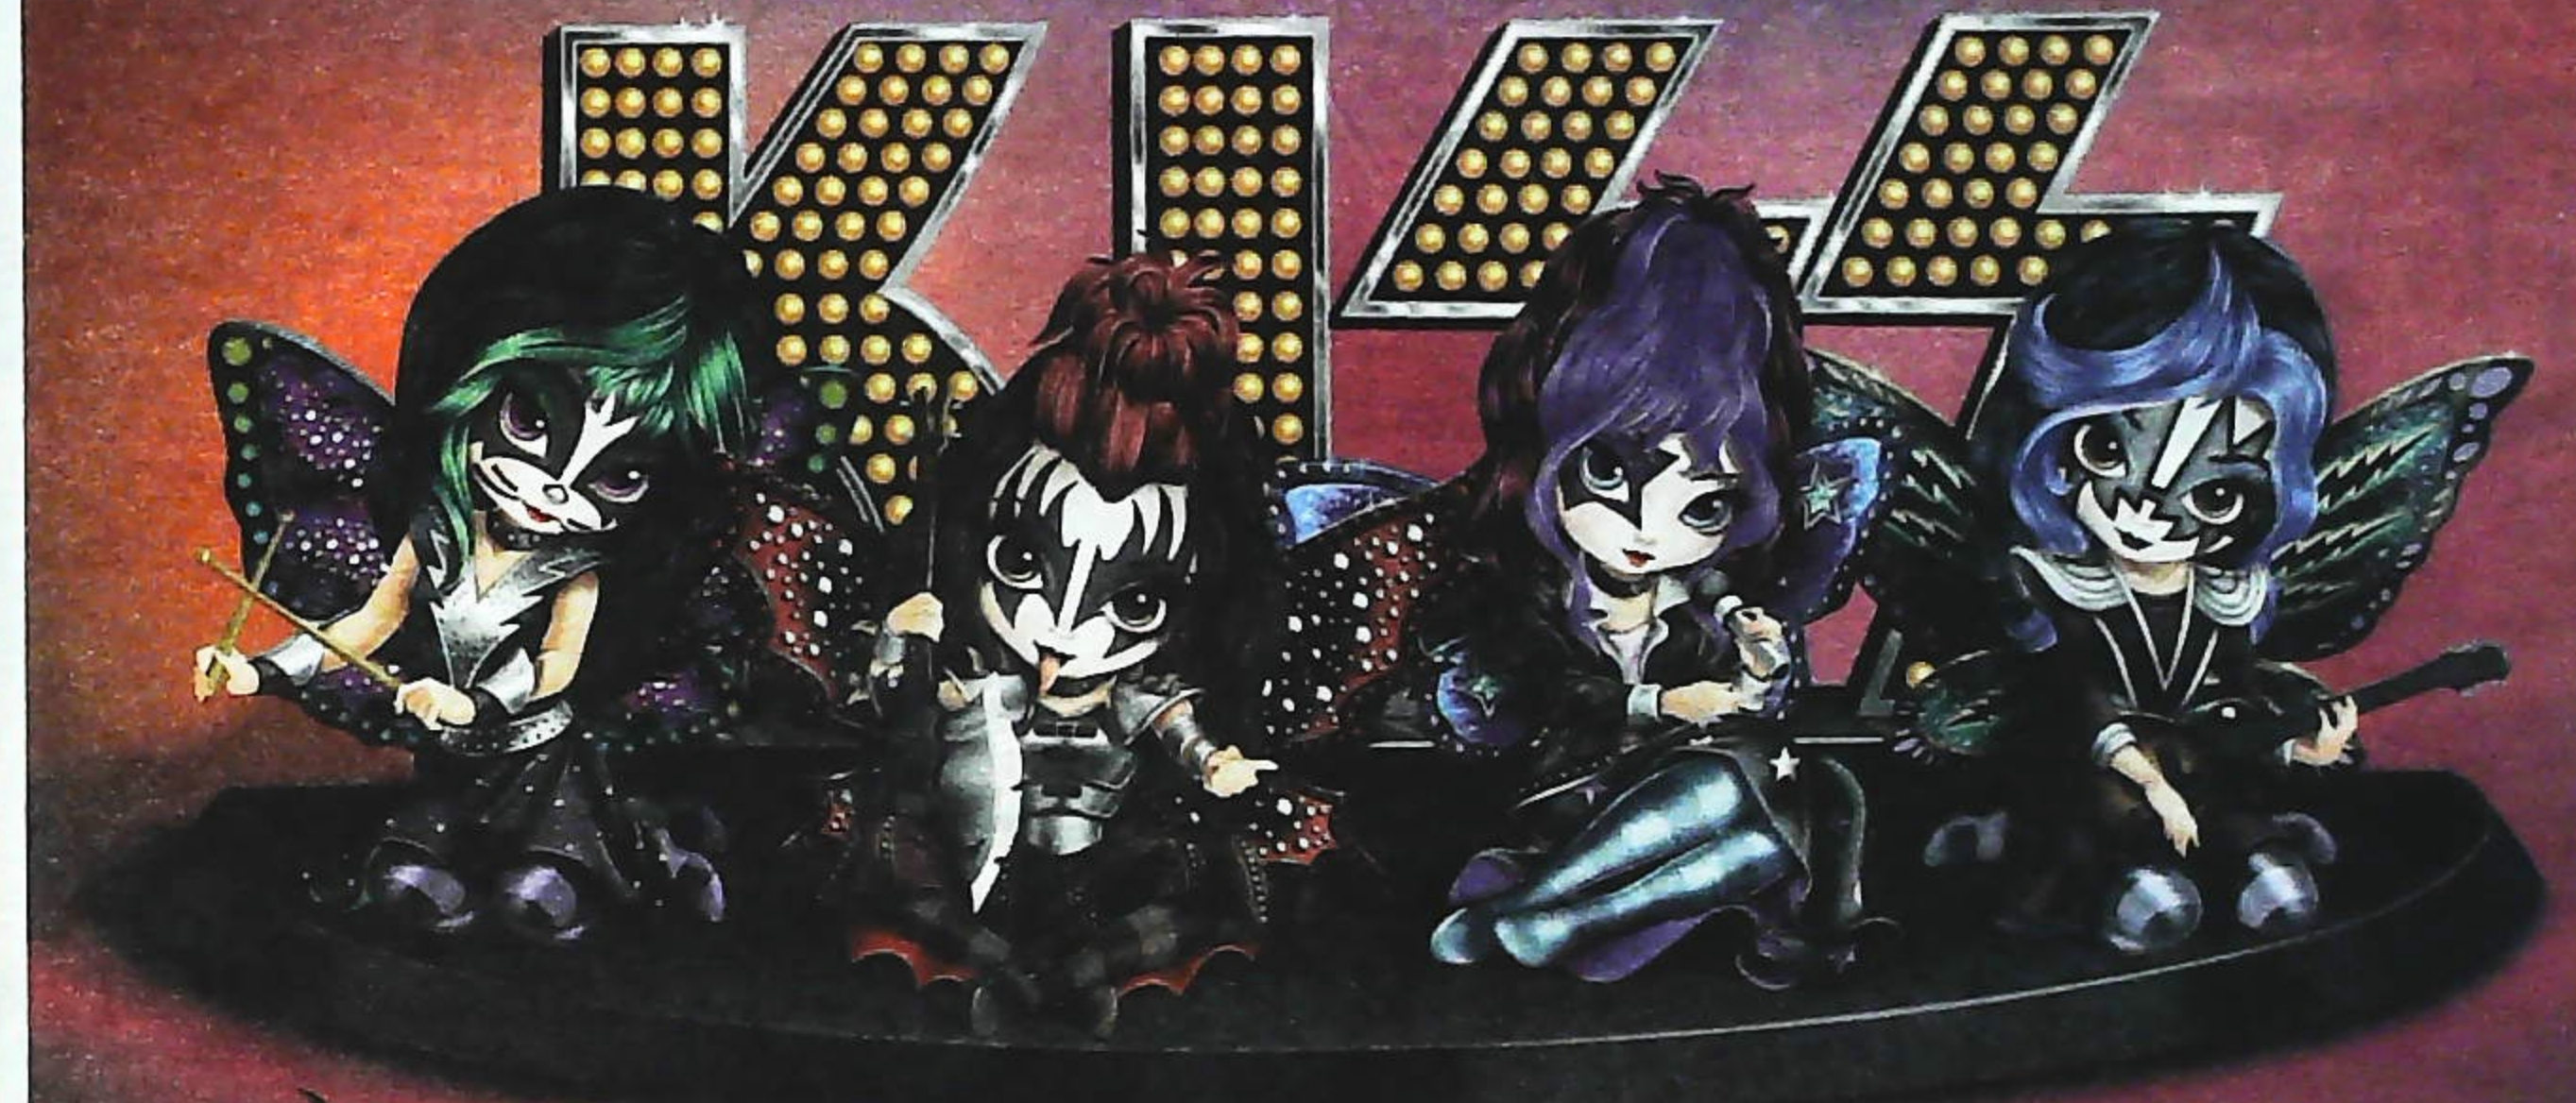

Levi, with Bristol & Tripp in 2008, won joint custody

FRAIL POITIER'S BRAVE FINAL DAYS!

Heartbreakingly feeble Sidney gets help at his 89th birthday party in West Hollywood, right. As a young star, he blazed to an Oscar (far left) for 1963's "Lilies of the Field"

He needs help to walk

ELEGANT actor Sidney Poitier can barely walk — and his shocking decline has sparked worries the Oscar winner is facing his precious last days!

Sidney was caught hobbling to his 89th birthday bash at a West Hollywood restaurant — and barely able to remain upright!

As heartbreaking photos obtained by GLOBE reveal, the "To Sir, With Love" star needed the support of two pals to make it to the party.

"I'm told it was all bittersweet," sighs a longtime Poitier pal. "Age has taken a terrible toll on him and you just have to wonder if this is his last birthday celebration." While the atmosphere was upbeat and festive, and included Hollywood royalty Patrick Stewart and Denzel Washington as guests, some realized this might be the last time many would ever see the screen legend, who became the first black man to win an Academy Award for his leading role in the 1963 film "Lilies of the Field."

"He's no longer the vibrant Hollywood star he once was," says the friend. "Sadly, you can tell that just by watching him. Right now, we're all praying for him."

After suffering a horrific tumble three years ago at his home, which left the "Raisin in the Sun" actor with his head heavily bandaged and in a wheelchair, family and friends have been keeping a watchful eye over Sidney.

"He hit his head quite badly and everyone was worried he had a serious concussion or some serious brain injury," says a spy. "Poor circulation in his legs and severe back problems have plagued him for years. His family is terrified he'll trip and fall again and sustain a life-threatening injury."

The actor overcame a serious health crisis before, back in 1993, when he beat prostate cancer. But his current condition is cause for grave concern.

Sidney is carefully helped into a wheelchair on a trip in Beverly Hills

"Listen, everybody is worried about Sidney," says the pal. "He's one of the few Hollywood legends left and we don't want to lose him."

"Right now, we're taking it one day at a time with him," says his sad friend.

"The rest is up to God."

Michael Jackson and his kids had many happy days before his untimely death. Here he enjoys playtime with son Prince and daughter Paris

Family man Michael helps Paris – and a mostly hidden Prince – with a jigsaw puzzle in this moving shot

The King of Pop as only his kids knew him

Proud papa Michael shares a warm moment with young Paris back in 1999. At right, a mischievous-looking Prince seems to be taking out some road rage behind the wheel of his play car!

THESE intimate photos capture Michael Jackson as the doting daddy only his beloved children knew.

The heartwarming moments go a long way toward explaining the tragic downward spiral of the Gloved One's loved ones – Prince, 19; Paris, 17; and Blanket, 14. The kids have faced trauma and turmoil since their father's shocking death at their California home in 2009.

"My dad was hanging half off the bed, his eyes rolling back in his head," says Prince, recalling the horrifying tragedy. In the aftermath, the hunky Loyola Marymount University student has had a couple of run-ins with the law and was photographed smoking what looked like marijuana out on the street!

Meanwhile, his rebellious kid sister, Paris, swallowed 20 Motrin pills and slashed her wrists in a 2013 suicide attempt. She then went into rehab and recently confessed she's attending Alcoholics Anonymous meetings, amid family squabbles over her dad's $2 billion fortune.

Youngest child Blanket has also struggled. After enduring a lifetime of teasing and facing down school bullies over his bizarre nickname, he's become a karate kid and changed his handle to Bigi.

ALERT:HOUSEWORK
KEEPS
YOU FIT!

A NEW study shows that a week's worth of household chores adds up to a serious workout — and burns more than 2,000 calories.

Not only that, the cleaning, dusting and scrubbing also build and tone muscles.

Here's the breakdown:

- Doing the laundry burns 78 calories, the same as doing 100 sit-ups.
- Washing windows is the same as doing 40 pushups. If you do it for an hour, you'll burn 334 calories.
- Scrubbing the bathtub for 15 minutes burns 100 calories and is best for toning arms and shoulders.
- Ironing is the chore of choice for building and strengthening abdominal muscles. If you spend three hours a week getting the creases out of your clothes, you can burn a whopping 420 calories.

- Doing the dishes for just 15 minutes a night burns 560 calories a week.
- Vacuuming for just 30 minutes burns 90 calories and strengthens biceps.
- Mowing the lawn for an hour burns 325 calories.
- Mopping and sweeping for 30 minutes burns 145 calories.
- Making the beds for 15 minutes burns 65 calories or the same as a 1-mile power walk.
- Gardening for 30 minutes burns 213 calories, just like 45 minutes on a cycling machine.

High school fights dementia

✦ A NEW study finds the risk of dementia is lower for those with a high school education compared to those who don't. The research says a better-educated population, along with stronger cardiovascular health, does better at avoiding the disease. Dallas Anderson of the National Institute on Aging says the numbers indicate dementia isn't a genetically driven condition: "You can take steps to postpone the disease."

Excess sugar hurts your brain

✦ NEW research has discovered that sugar isn't just bad for your waistline — it's bad for your brain! A study at Australia's University of New South Wales found that excessive sugar intake in rats damages the hippocampus area of the brain, in a way that's similar to how extreme stress and abuse can damage a brain. Dieticians recommend no more than 10% of a person's energy per day come from added sugar (about 12 teaspoons).

EXCESS IRON
SUPPLEMENTS
WEAKNESS

ALTHOUGH millions of Americans take iron supplements every day, recent studies indicate the pills may be dangerous — and can start damaging your body in just 10 minutes.

The research, undertaken at the National Heart and Lung Institute in England, found the levels of iron in supplements may be far too high, containing 10 times the required amount to maintain a healthy body.

The study discovered that excess iron can damage the body's endothelial cells, which line arteries and veins.

Iron is vital for our bodies, and many women take supplement pills after pregnancy or to combat anemia.

According to the institute, menstruating women require 14.8 mg, while men need an average of 8.7 mg of iron per day.

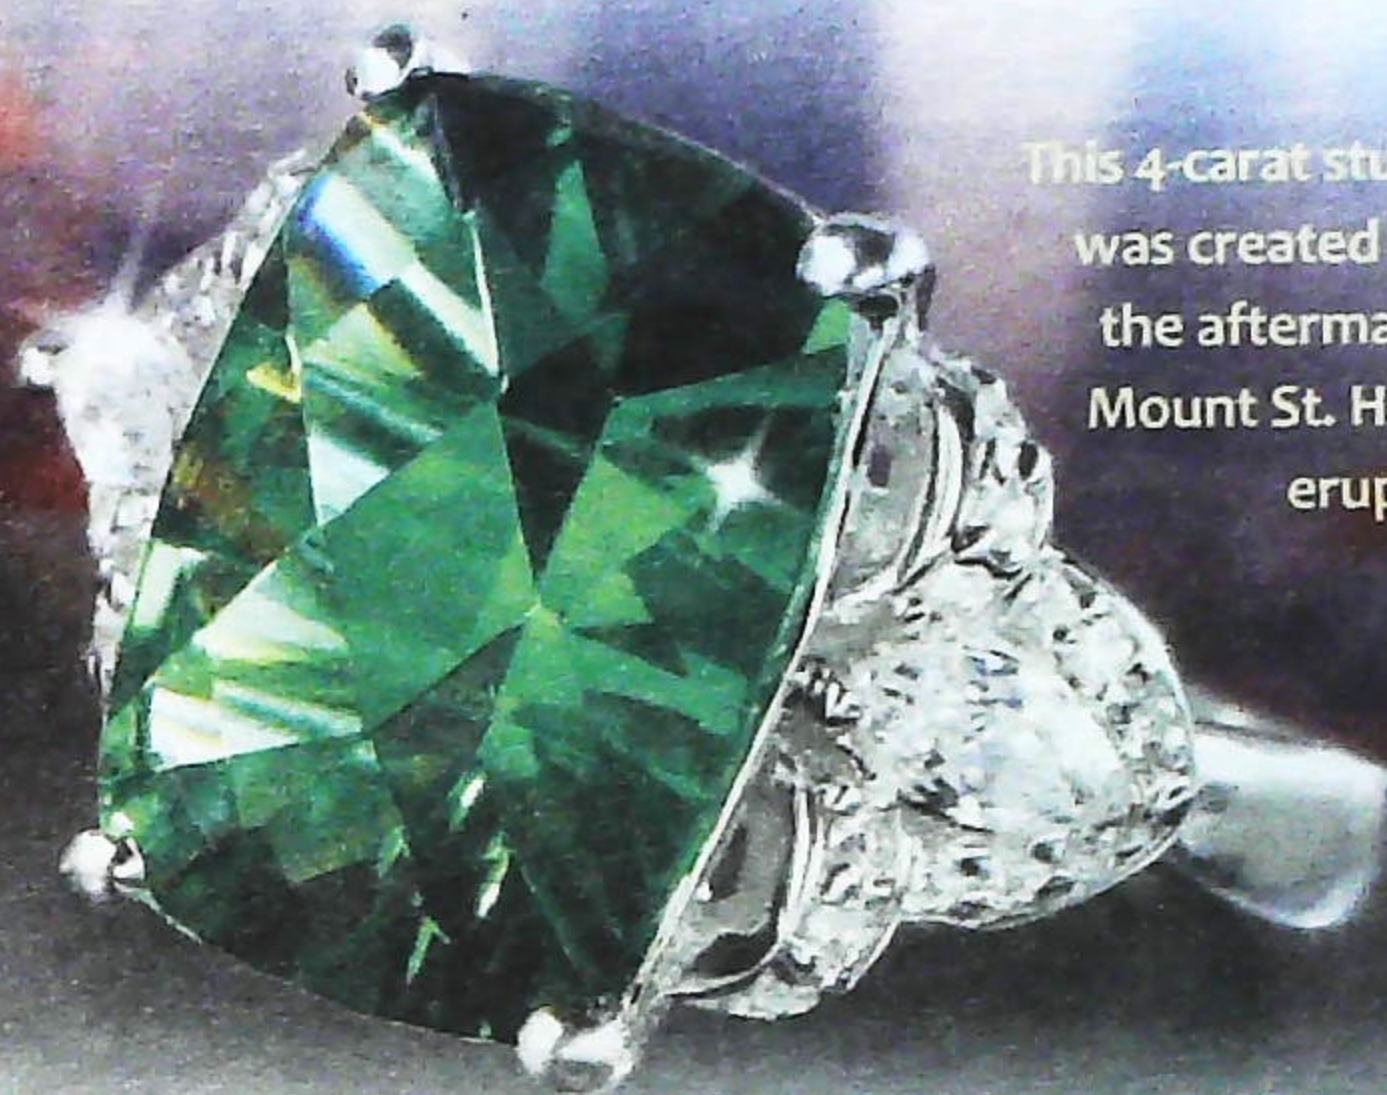

But pills prescribed by doctors can contain 65 mg — over three times the maximum amount for a daily diet!

The researchers stressed that the findings were preliminary and urged people to continue taking iron pills until more is known.

SPLASH, scandal and sex! Jackie Collins' books had it all, but new photos reveal the "Valley of the Dolls" writer lived a lush life all her own! Jackie fought breast cancer and—as GLOBE exclusively revealed—committed assisted suicide in September at age 77. She left behind a sprawling $30

Her huge house is straight out of the outrageously luxe lifestyles her characters lived—with its screening room, a gym, a spiral staircase and a glass-and-marble shower perfect for steaming things up. Says Redfin real estate agent

Alec Traub, "This fabulous estate features beautiful marble entryway with large skylights, flooding the entrance with plenty of natural light. We also love the spacious entertaining areas, perfect for hosting any number of guests in this enormous eight-bedroom home." The 21,784-square-foot mansion was inspired by a painting

Jackie saw in London: "A Bigger Splash," by artist David Hockney. "Within days, I was sketching a design for a new home that wrapped around a pool based on the one in the painting," the author recalled. Here's hoping the decadent digs can now can inspire someone else!

DYING 'GREY'S' NEEDS A MEDICAL MIRACLE!

Ellen Pompeo fears execs are planning to KILL HER & THE SHOW

Pompeo fears for her beloved show, feeling it could be up for the axe

GONERS!

Star Sandra Oh left the show at the end of Season 10

Patrick Dempsey's character was killed off last year

GREY'S Anatomy" star Ellen Pompeo fears a patient's vicious attack on her TV doc character is a chilling warning cold-hearted show bigwigs are about to pull the plug on the 12-year medical drama.

Grey's has already taken huge hits in the ratings since the show lost key characters Sandra Oh (Dr. Christian Yang) and Ellen's TV hubby Patrick Dempsey (Dr. Derek Shepherd) the past two seasons.

A measly 8 million viewers now watch the ABC medical drama compared to a staggering 25 million when it was flying high.

Now, the Feb. 11 episode featuring a ferocious assault on Ellen's title character Dr. Meredith Grey could be a set up to kill the brave doc and show for good.

"Ellen wonders if the show is on its last legs, and that's why they are putting Meredith through the wringer yet again," a series snitch says.

"She doesn't believe show creator Shonda Rhimes would kill off Meredith while keeping the show going — her name, after all, is in the show's title.

"But she fears Shonda has lost interest and is going to put the show in mothballs."

The 46-year-old actress notes that in 12 seasons, Dr. Meredith's brushes with violence and death has included a near-miss with a bomb, flat-lining after drowning and a plane crash.

When she learned about the new attack, Ellen said, "So, Meredith is going to be attacked again? Hasn't (that) enough happened to Meredith?"

In the "The Sound of Silence Episode," an unconscious patient suddenly awakes while Meredith's back is turned. He slams her against a wall and smashes her head against a medicine cabinet before they collapse on the floor.

When Patrick's Dempsey's character died in a car accident last season, rumors swirled he was written off the show after bumping heads with Rhimes.

Meanwhile, Oh left to do a play.

But Ellen stuck up for Patrick during the dispute and sources speculate her character's new brush with death could be "a warning shot," another insider tells GLOBE.

Ellen and her cast members "see the writing on the wall," the source adds.

"More and more, it's looking like the end for all of them. And Ellen is convinced they aren't going to write her a happy ending."

YOUR HOROSCOPE

For the week of March 14- March 20

by
Emily Hamer-West

ARIES March 21 - April 20

Just because someone passes judgment on a difficult decision you're making doesn't mean you're wrong, Ram. If it feels right in your gut, go for it! The stars say you won't regret it! In romance, a tiny compromise leads to a big gain in trust – you'll be closer than this by the weekend.

GEMINI May 22 - June 21

Venus encourages you to face a romantic riddle that's been troubling you lately, and the answers will come easily by listening to your intuition. Resist pressure from pals to try some new – and weird! – food this weekend. It's not for you! Instead, spend quality time with a young relative.

LEO July 23 - August 23

Asking others to do something you won't do yourself is a recipe for disaster – let the matter drop. The Gemini moon inspires you to plan a family reunion, and you can find bargains now on hotels for out-of-town guests. Head to a favorite eatery this weekend – you need some socializing!

LIBRA September 23 - October 23

That advice a new friend offers about your primary relationship is based on jealousy – ignore it! The weekend's Leo moon helps you release worries about money or love and get on a positive track. A relative has big news about a move and it may involve you. Are you ready for change?

SAGITTARIUS November 23 - December 21

You could be feeling distressed over a loved one's problem – and feel obligated to solve it. Although this isn't a task you have to take on, with your help and insight, the two of you can work a miracle! Saturn motivates you to make neglected dentist and eye doctor appointments.

AQUARIUS January 21 - February 18

Mercury helps you read between the lines, benefiting your bottom line and making it easier to achieve what you seek in a romantic relationship. If you're single, this could even lead to a marriage proposal! Freshen up your home with some greenery. The number two attracts luck!

TAURUS April 21 - May 21

Forget cash worries after you find a trusted financial advisor with Mercury's guidance. This could even be a savvy friend or coworker! Single Bulls meet a likely date-mate while dropping off unwanted household items at the charity shop midweek. Saturday brings a gift – answer your door!

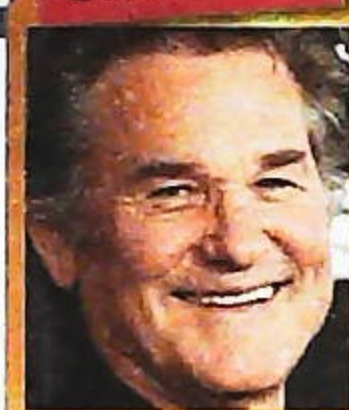

CANCER June 22 - July 22

Although a money matter might come between you and a friend or relative, causing stress and even sleepless nights, you'll figure out how to make amends after Venus meets Neptune. Don't leave the house until you're looking your best on Tuesday, when Cupid has you in his sights!

CELEBRITY BIRTHDAY

KURT RUSSELL
turns 65
on March 17

VIRGO August 24 - September 22

The Cancer moon puts you in the mood to spruce up your house midweek, but it could be hard finding the money to do everything you want. Hit yard sales and flea markets where décor items will be cheap and plentiful. An old flame relights your fire, but will the passion stay lit?

SCORPIO October 24 - November 22

An idea you cook up could earn a fortune – and best of all, you'll find a way under the Gemini moon for someone else to front the start-up cash! Stress could make you crabby midweek – an evening at home will boost your mood. A shopping trip leads to romance near a dressing room!

CAPRICORN December 22 - January 20

Postpone a new project until the moon is in Cancer midweek, when you'll get extra support from others. Consider the source when taking financial advice. Basing money decisions on the input of someone up to his ears in debt is not so wise! But a savvy saver offers good advice.

PISCES February 19 - March 20

Jupiter encourages you to take a hard look at what you're spending time on, and drop things that aren't fulfilling or truly needed. Emotions are fragile, so choose your words with care now. Some Fish can expect an income surge to arrive, along with news about a great job offer.

KEEPSAKE”

MY good friend Majestik Magnificent died after finally losing his brave battle with brain cancer.

The Magnificent One was the personal magician for Michael Jackson. Before that, he was the personal magician for Muhammad Ali.

I met him at a party in Beverly Hills in 1992 and we became fast friends. He had only one rule: Don't ask me about my celebrity friends. If you do, I'll never talk to you again."

I never did.

He lived most of the time in Las Vegas and we would always meet for dinner when I was in town.

But mostly we would get together in Los Angeles for dinner or hit the clubs in Hollywood, where he was instantly recognizable to loyal Michael Jackson fans.

Million dollar smile.

Million dollar personality.

But he hid a dark secret. Michael's father, Joseph, who Majestik lived with for nine years in Vegas, used and abused him.

GLOBE revealed in 2012 that Joseph, then 84, was cheating on his wife Katherine with Majestik's wife, Lavinia. But since Majestik's death, a mutual friend tells me there was far more to the story.

Joseph berated, cajoled and bullied Majestik into marrying Lavinia in the first place just to cover for the shocking affair.

And if Joseph is reading

THE MAGIC OF MAJESTIK MAGNIFICENT

this, we all know it wasn't the first time you forced Majestik to get married for your own sick purposes.

I'm told Majestik was so fed up with the scam that he divorced Lavinia and revealed Joseph's scheme to Katherine. But that's just the way he was.

Sadly, he was diagnosed with a terminal brain tumor in early 2014 and given only three months to live.

"I'm not going to give up," he vowed. And he never did.

He was later confined to a wheelchair and lost his hair from brutal chemo treatments.

Hoping to keep his spirits up, I texted him a photo of my bald head and wrote: "WELCOME TO THE CLUB!"

He called me laughing and said: "I love you!"

As he lay dying in his brother's house, another mutual friend called me on Feb. 17 with the heartbreaking news:

"He's not going to last another few days," she said. "He can't really speak, but he can hear. I'll put the phone to his ear."

As she did it, I said the words that came from the heart: "I love you, Majestik."

He died two days later.

JIM NABORS: I'M LUCKY TO BE ALIVE!

Prayer power saved me after my liver transplant

BELOVED "Gomer Pyle" star Jim Nabors admits he's a walking miracle after living for more than 20 years with a liver transplant!

In an exclusive GLOBE interview, the TV icon and crooner, now 85, says he "feels blessed" for being one of the rare recipients to live for more than two decades after a transplant!

"I thank God every day for giving me this precious gift of life! I realize just how lucky I am!"

Jim's liver was ravaged by Hepatitis B after picking up the killer virus during a trip to India.

By 1993, Jim was rail-thin and preparing for the worst.

When he learned a liver had been found, "I was overcome with emotion," Jim says. "I was weeks away from dying without a new one."

But the good news came with a price — the donor, a man in his 20s, died in a motorcycle accident.

"I hated to think that someone would have to die for me to live. It tormented me."

He made it through a grueling seven-hour operation in 1994 at the UCLA Medical Center in Los Angeles.

With support from his two sisters, his pal Carol Burnett, his then-boyfriend, now-husband Stan Cadwallader, and his fans, Jim pulled through.

"I got thousands of letters from well-wishers afterwards," says Jim, choking up a bit at the memory.

"Those prayers gave me strength and helped to heal me!"

EXCLUSIVE INTERVIEW

The gospel singer continued: "I've always believed in the power of prayer. It works! It helped me tremendously."

Anne Paschke from the United Network of Organ Sharing says Jim is in an elite group: "Of the 3,643 people who had a liver transplant in 1994, approximately 30 percent of them are still alive today."

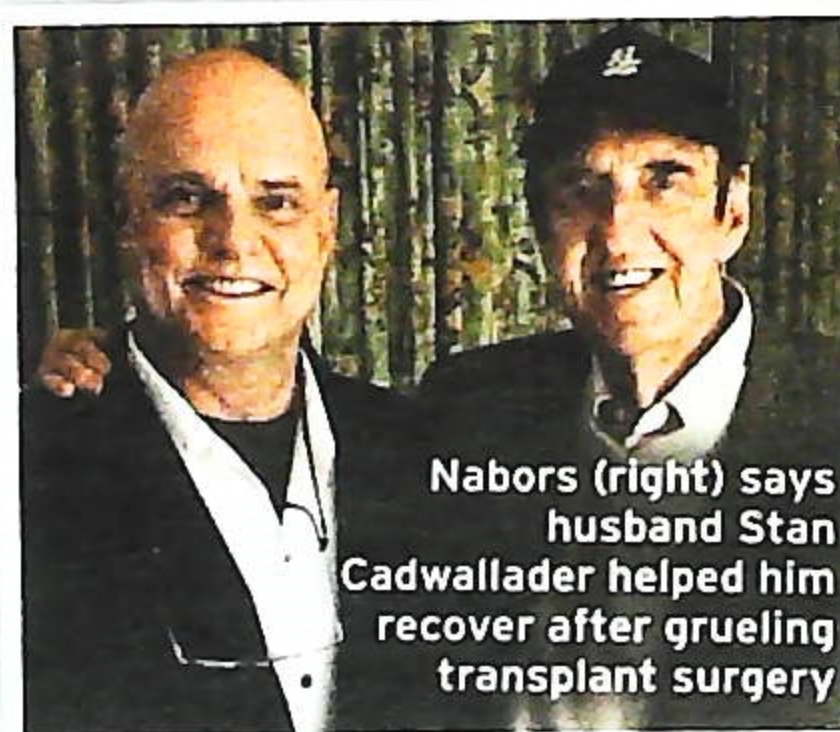

Jim lives with Stan at their beachfront home in Diamond Head and their farm in Hana, Hawaii.

He will require a monthly checkup and anti-rejection drugs for the rest of his life.

"I now live every day to the fullest," says the star, who remains indebted to his donor. "How can I ever say thank you for what he's given me?"

"Every morning when I wake up is a miracle. If it weren't for my liver transplant I would have been gone a long time ago!"

Nabors (right) says husband Stan Cadwallader helped him recover after grueling transplant surgery

Iconic actor Jim Nabors says the lifesaving liver transplant he received in 1994 remains "a miracle"

JULIANNE HOUGH BOOTED TO SAVE 'DWTS'!

THAT'S a huge sigh of relief you're hearing at ABC's "Dancing with the Stars!" Pro hooper turned judge Julianne Hough is out, fan favorite Len Goodman is back — and the faltering ratings are sure to rise!

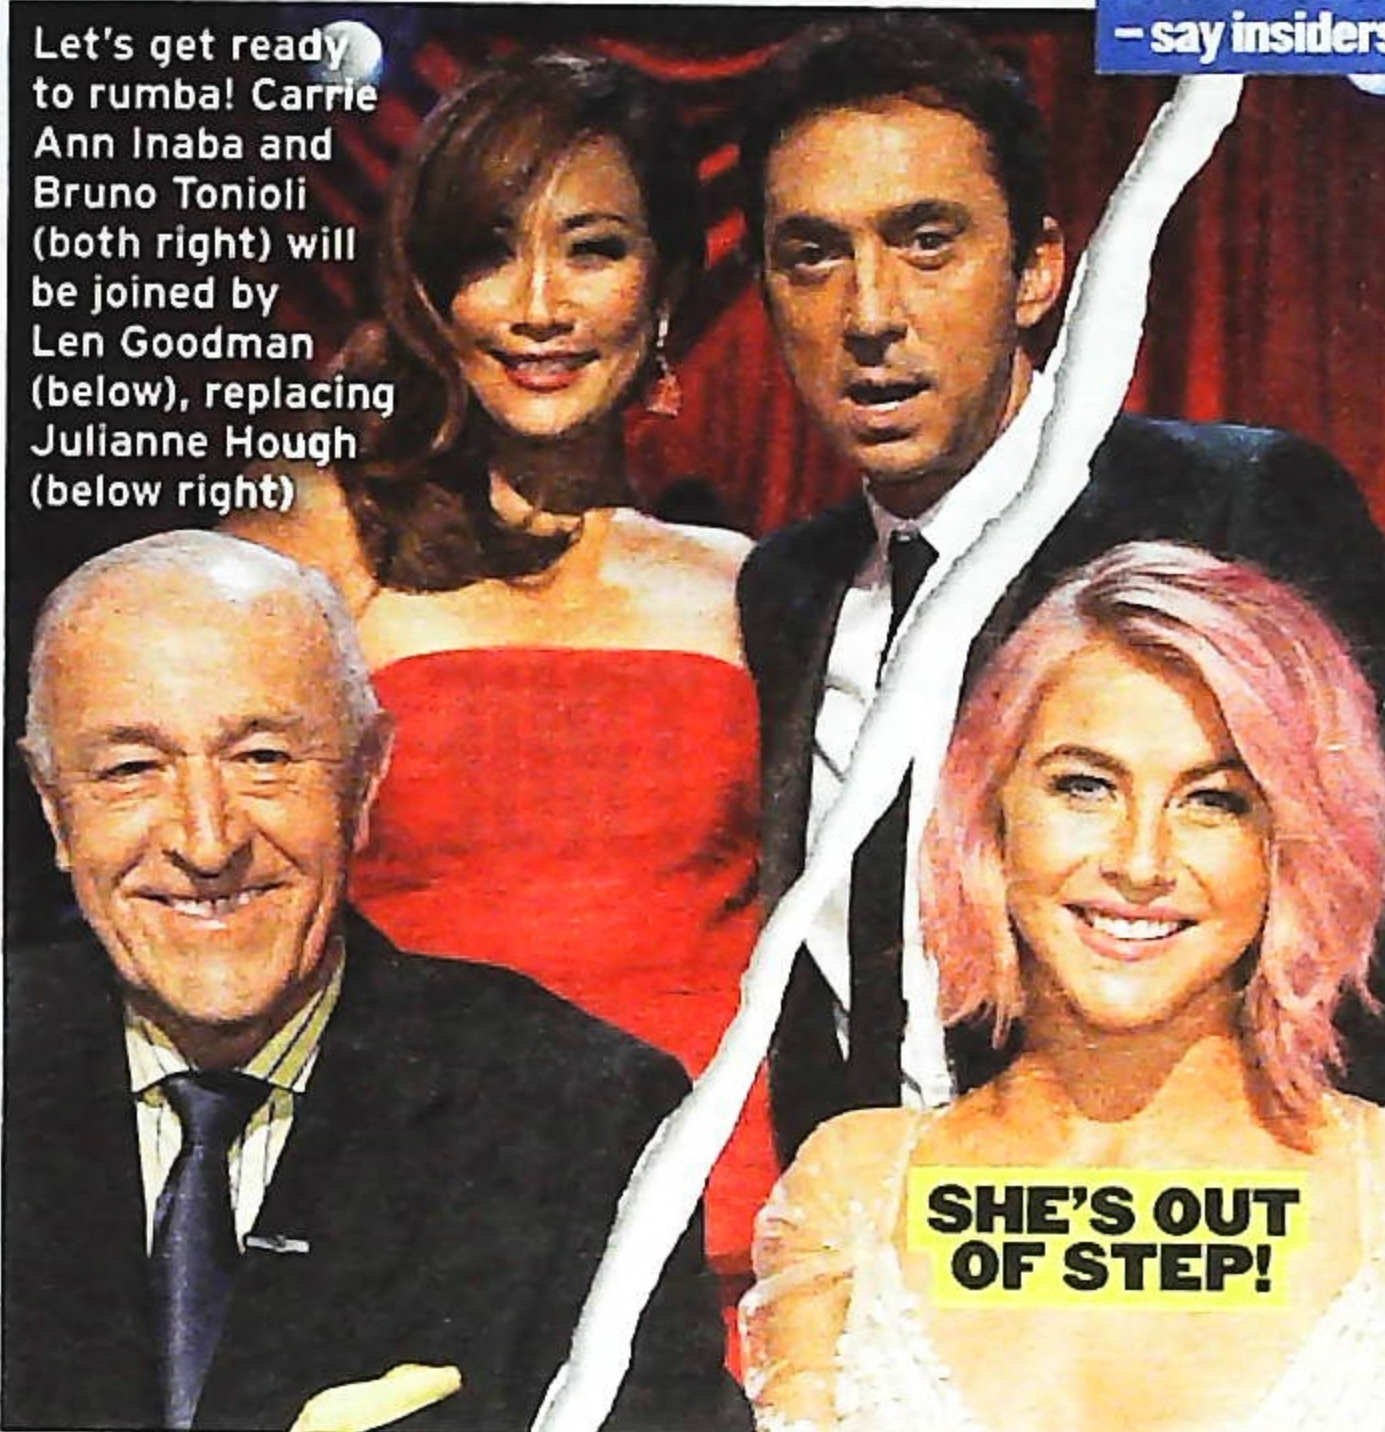

"Julianne never really fit in," an insider tells GLOBE. "Fans didn't like her, and there were tensions between her and the other judges."

"Julianne found fame — and an acting career — through dancing on the show, but she acted like she was doing everyone a favor by going back as a judge. Both Bruno (Tonioli) and Carrie Ann (Inaba) thought she had a major attitude, and that infuriated them. They're pleased to see her go."

There was backlash when Julianne, 27, joined the judges' panel for season 19. It only got worse when Len, 71, quit after season 20 due to the grueling weekly travel between the U.S. and Britain for his other series, "Strictly Come Dancing."

"Julianne Hough? She needs to take a big calm-down pill," blasted one Internet fan. "She is so loud and over the top I mute the TV when it's her time to speak!"

Let's get ready to rumba! Carrie Ann Inaba and Bruno Tonioli (both right) will be joined by Len Goodman (below), replacing Julianne Hough (below right)

Added another, "She's way too critical."

Ratings dropped without the notoriously cranky — but beloved — Len, and secret negotiations went into overdrive to bring him back.

"They need him to save the show," says the GLOBE informant. "I'm told removing Julianne and going back to a three-member panel was key to getting him to return."

A gushy Julianne assured viewers, "it's not the last you'll see of me in the ballroom."

But the spy tells us, "No one's shedding any tears about Julianne being gone."

Kim Cattrall turned down the role of Samantha on "Sex and the City" twice. Lucky for HBO viewers, the third time was the charm!

TV FACT

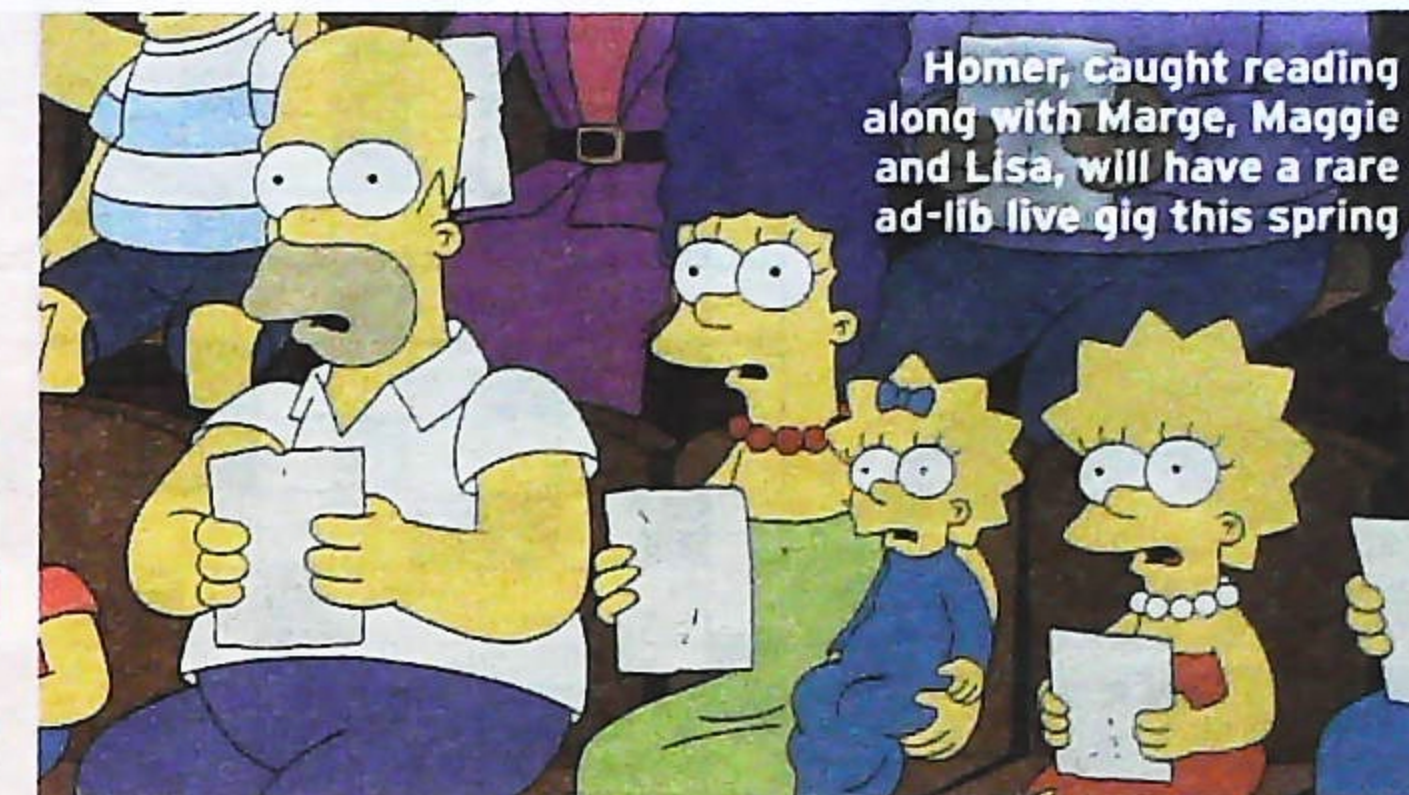

D'OH! HOMER SIMPSON WILL BE LIVE!

DON'T have a cow, man, but "The Simpsons" are going LIVE this May!

For a very special segment — and about three minutes — the long-running cartoon series will feature Homer Simpson commenting on current events and answering questions from fans!

Show exec Al Jean explained that the team behind "The Simpsons" will use motion-capture technology and improvisation from voice actor Dan Castellaneta, who plays Bart's doughnut-loving dad.

Both East and West Coast viewers will get a chance to submit questions via the Internet for the Simpsons patriarch, as there will be a live edition for each time zone!

The very special "Simpsons" episode will be broadcast May 15 on FOX.

SEINFELD TERRIFIED ELAINE'S TV LOVER!

ELAINE's boyfriend on "Seinfeld," Patrick Warburton, made sure to steer clear of star Jerry Seinfeld!

Patrick, who played Puddy — the not-too-bright beau of Julia Louis-Dreyfus' Elaine — worried about appearing dumb when the cameras WEREN'T rolling!

"I just wanted to stay out of his way!" the 51-year-old actor explains. "I just didn't want to stick my foot in my mouth or say something stupid."

"I wanted to hit my marks, I wanted to get the laughs and I wanted him to say, 'I like that Puddy character, let's bring him back.'"

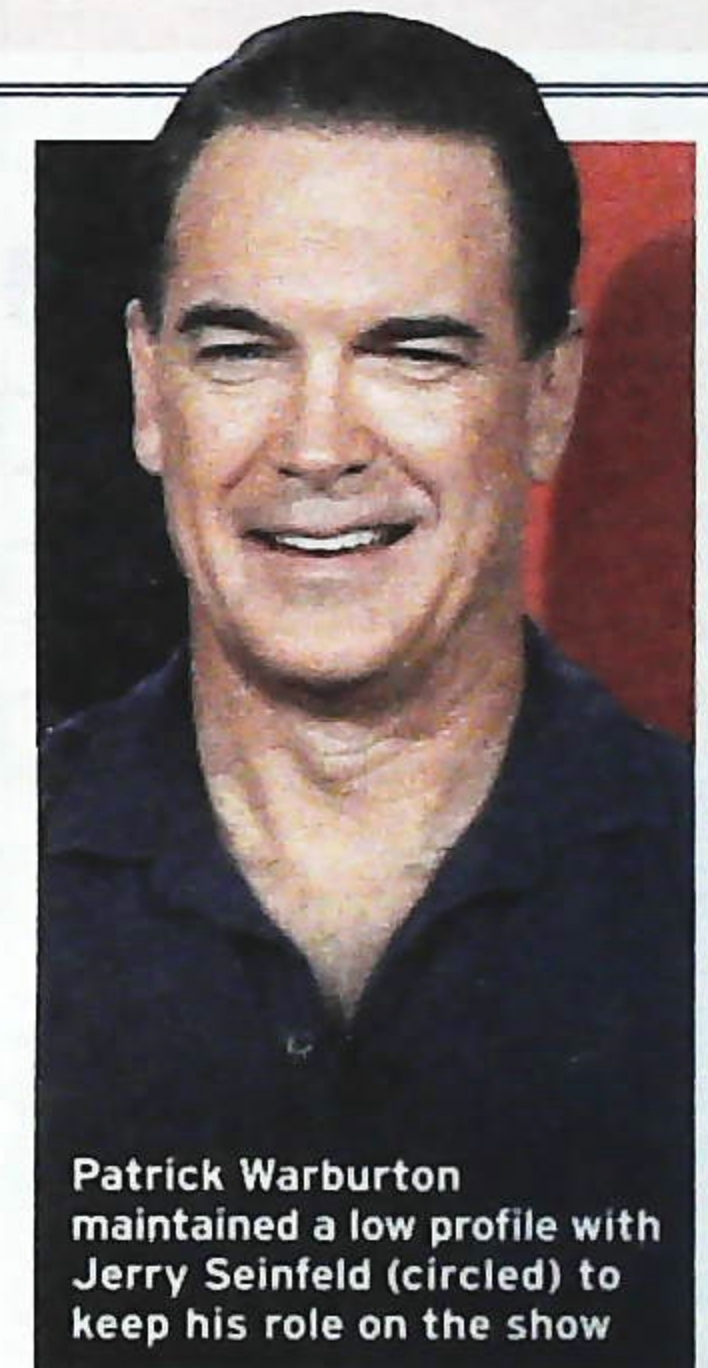

It must have worked, because Patrick's gig spanned several episodes between 1995 and 1998!

"As social and as generous as (Jerry) is and as good a guy as he is, I think he probably likes to not be bothered," he notes, "so I didn't want to ask any dumb questions."

Patrick says he got over his Seinfeld fear when they worked on 2007's "Bee Movie," nine years after the NBC comedy came to an end.

"Everybody in that cast at 'Seinfeld' were all so remarkably down to earth," he adds. "I'm still friends with Jason Alexander (who played George) to this day."

❶ Which "Dynasty" diva had a brief gig on daytime soap "Guiding Light" as Alexandra Spaulding?

❷ What was the name of the local hangout on "Three's Company"?

❸ What actor played Eddie's father on "The Courtship of Eddie's Father"?

STEVE'S TRIBUTE TO LOST EYDIE!

A COURAGEOUS Steve Lawrence made a triumphant return to performing and there wasn't a dry eye in the audience - or the stage!

At a jam-packed theater in Palm Desert, Calif., the 80-year-old singer made his first performance since the death of his wife and stage partner, Eydie Gorme, more than two years ago.

The show hit its climax when Steve told the crowd, "Everybody sings 'My Funny Valentine' on Valentine's Day, but I'm not going to sing it tonight."

At that moment, the stage went dark, and on the screen were Steve and Eydie singing the song to one another.

"We honestly could feel Eydie's presence," says a pal of Lawrence's. "There was so much emotion for him to deal with. At the end of the show, they kept cheering him and he got very emotional."

Overwhelmed by tears, Steve repeatedly pointed his finger toward the heavens in honor of beloved Eydie, his wife of 55 years who died at 84.

BUSTED!

Dead Presidents out to pasture in colossal theme park flop

Howard Hankins (circled) is right at home with heads of state, which he saved from destruction

THE UNWANTED massive sculptures of Presidents Park — the East Coast's answer to Mount Rushmore — have been rescued by the man hired to destroy them!

Concrete recycler Howard Hankins was supposed to haul away the 20-foot statues of 43 of the nation's chief executives — from George Washington to George W. Bush and every one in between — from the Williamsburg, Va., attraction. But the patriotic businessman couldn't bear to destroy the tributes to America's leaders.

"They called me and wanted to know if I would come down there and crush [the heads] and haul them away," Hankins says. "I said, 'Heck no, can I have 'em?' I'm going to preserve them."

Hankins got the job initially because the bust-filled park went belly up in 2010. At the time, the park had yet to create a bust of 44th President Barack Obama because of funding issues.

Instead of ripping apart the 43 giant heads — which each weigh 15,000 to 20,000 pounds — Hankins spent a hefty amount of cash removing the creations by Houston artist David Adickes.

The moving job involved an excavator crane and a flatbed truck — and cost $50,000!

Now all 43 giant heads sit on Hankins' farm in Croaker, Va., on private property closed to the public.

Hankins hopes to make the statues available to tourists in the near future in the Williamsburg area.

"We are currently raising money for a new presidential museum," says the Williamsburg Presidential Museum Project. "This museum will create a total experience of the many facets of the U.S. Presidents."

Sadly, the concrete Presidents have seen better days. Ronald Reagan was struck by lightning and Abraham Lincoln is developing age spots!

IT'S DOPEY TO LEGALIZE POT!

IN the Feb. 22 issue, GLOBE asked: Should America legalize marijuana?

To put it bluntly, most readers HATED the idea of making wacky weed readily available for recreational use.

"America SHOULD NOT legalize the poison marjuana is. IT IS CRAP!!!" texts a reader in New Mexico.

A voter from Washington, D.C., says, "No! It sends the wrong message to our young children and it does alter the mind."

But a woman in South Carolina says, "Yes! My bro has cystic fibrosis. Marijuana is not legal here but he swears by it for pain management, appetite and even value of life."

A Georgia reader insists the stuff hasn't made life go to pot: "Yes, legalize it! Been smoking for years; no different than people drinking a few."

The final tally:
YES (LEGALIZE IT!): 46%
NO (DON'T!): 54%

I KILLED ELVIS!

Dr. George Nichopoulos

The King's drug doc FINALLY CONFESSES on his deathbed

Elvis Presley died in August 1977 leaving a world in mourning and important questions unanswered

ELVIS' drug doc George "Dr. Nick" Nichopoulos finally confessed on his deathbed the thousands of pills he'd overprescribed for The King ended the superstar's life at age 42.

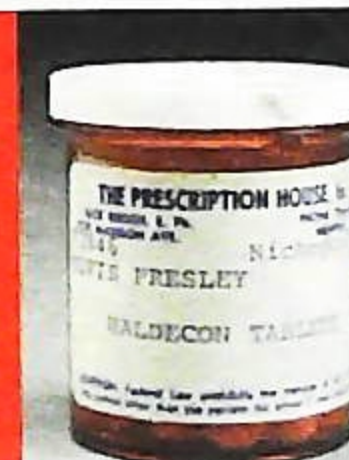

After insisting for 39 years Elvis was killed by chronic constipation, Dr. Nick cleared his conscience just before he passed away at age 88 on Feb. 24.

"I killed Elvis," he confessed. Following the music idol's Aug. 16, 1977 death, the autopsy team at Baptist Memorial Hospital in Elvis' Memphis, Tenn., hometown concluded he'd died from "polypharmacy," or drug interaction.

But Dr. Nick refused to admit the thousands of pills he'd gotten for Elvis starting in the 1960s were responsible.

Just months before the star's death, Dr. Nick wrote him 1,000 prescriptions for more

The day Elvis died, Dr. Nick wrote him eight prescriptions for nearly 600 pills than 10,000 doses of drugs.

And on the day the singer died, he wrote eight prescriptions — for nearly 600 pills!

In 1980, Dr. Nick was charged with "criminally" overprescribing drugs for Elvis and eight others — including rocker Jerry Lee Lewis.

He was acquitted on Nov. 4, 1981, and continued to claim Elvis died from severe constipation and an enlarged bowel.

Indeed, the autopsy revealed the rocker's colon was twice the normal length and width — and crammed with more than 30 pounds of feces.

But the autopsy failed to find cell necrosis in Elvis' gut, eliminating the killer constipation theory.

Dr. Nick's medical license was suspended following the acquittal.

He lost his license permanently in the mid '90s for overprescribing drugs. He then struggled with health problems and bankruptcy.

In a blockbuster interview with GLOBE last year, he admitted the sight of Elvis' lifeless body on a bathroom floor his Graceland mansion still tormented him.

Still, he insisted he was innocent, saying "It wasn't the number of prescription drugs he was taking."

But he finally faced the tragic truth on his deathbed.

"It had to be a huge relief for Dr. Nick after living with so much guilt for so many years," says a source.

FLASHBACK

DUKE PUTS UP HIS DUKES!

HE wasn't always a Hollywood gunslinger. Sometimes he just used his fists! This fitting photo of the Duke is from the 1936 flick "Conflict," which pitted him against real-life booze-buddy Ward Bond.

Wayne did mostly B-grade westerns, until 1940 when he was cast alongside German sexpot Marlene Dietrich in "Seven Sinners." When the sultry maneater first spotted the 6-foot-4 all-American hunk in the studio commissary, she leaned over to the movie's director and whispered in his ear, "Daddy, buy me that!"
